New Hampshire woman picked to be new Bethel town manager

The Bethel Board of Selectmen has selected Madeleine E. Henley of Antrim, N.H., as Bethel's next town manager.

Henley, 30, will begin work on Dec. 10. She will replace Rodney Lynch, who has served as manager since March of 1985.

Lynch announced in late August that he would resign his position, effective Nov. 4. At this week's selectmen's meeting, however, board chairman Arlan Jodrey said Lynch has agreed to continue in the position until the new manager comes on board. After that, he will continue to work for the Board of Selectmen on an as-needed basis, concentrating on special projects, Jodrey said. (Lynch is currently on a two-week leave of absence for duty in the Naval Reserve.)

Henley has served as the assistant to the Antrim Board of Selectmen for two years. Her duties there include coordinating daily administrative functions, preparing the town's annual report and serving on several boards and committees.

Her other professional experience has been as a staff member at the University of Rhode Island's Women's Center and as a research associate with state and local financial workshops in Syracuse, N.Y.

Henley has a bachelor of arts degree from the University of Rhode Island, where she majored in economics and women's studies. She later attended the Maxwell School of Public Affairs and Citizenship at Syracuse University, where she studied state and local government financial analysis and management.

Henley said the Bethel town manager position "seemed like a good match," between the town's needs and her experience.

She described the New Hampshire town where she currently works as similar to Bethel in some key respects. "It has about 2450 people, with a town meeting and board of selectmen form of government," she said, and is facing similar issues, such as a landfill closure.

Also like Bethel, she said, the town faced considerable development pressure through the 1980s and enacted a number of growth control ordinances, which—with development pressure abated—it is now working to refine.

The selectmen's vote on Henley's appointment came during a special meeting Thursday, most (two hours) of which was spent in executive session interviewing Henley and negotiating the details of her contract.

Henley agreed to a three-to-five year contract calling for her to be paid a base salary of $33,000 to start. After six months the base salary would increase to $35,000.

When benefits are included, Jodrey estimated, the new manager's total starting compensation will cost the town approximately $38,000.

Rodney Lynch is currently paid a base salary of $28,500 and has a total compensation package of approximately $42,000, Jodrey said.

In its search for a new manager, the town also spent nearly $4,000 in consulting fees to the Maine Municipal Association and advertising costs.

Thirty-seven resumes were received for the position, Jodrey said. 10 candidates were "seriously considered," and five were interviewed.

In announcing Henley's appointment, Jodrey said, "I feel proud that someone with Madeleine Henley's qualifications will be a part of our town. It has taken a lot of effort on the part of the selectmen and Henley to reach this determination, and I look forward to a good working relationship."

Henley said that she and her husband have been hoping to move to Maine, preferably western Maine for some time. "It's so beautiful there," she said.

Telstar field hockey team wins western title, drops heartbreaker in state championship

For the second consecutive year the Telstar field hockey team has captured the Western Maine Class C Championship. And for the second year the Rebels put on a strong performance in the state championship game, only to come away on the short end of a 1-0 score.

As the score would indicate, the championship game was once again a nail-biting defensive battle.

The game, played at neutral Gardner High School, was blessed with picture-book Indian summer weather, but marred by a soggy field and numerous penalty whistles.

Scores of Telstar fans made the journey to Gardiner to support the Rebels. The fans cheered as the formidable Rebel defense, which had not allowed a single goal throughout the playoffs, held Eastern Maine champion Orono to only two shots in the entire game.

But the Rebels' offense was also not connecting, and the second Red Riot shot—at 14:48 of the second period—proved to be decisive.

Taking a direct pass on a penalty corner, All-American Jen Pelleri drilled a shot past the Rebel defenders and through the pads of goalie Danielle Bernier.

The play was perfectly executed. Pelleri's shot was a bullet. There was just no way to stop it.

But the Rebels responded by turning up their own offensive pressure. Most of the remaining action was in the Orono end of the field, where with just three minutes remaining Kris Delano fired a shot that the Orono goalie was barely able to deflect.

Delano—who made the winning shot in Telstar's 1-0 Western Maine championship victory over Yarmouth—quickly followed through and gathered in the rebound, but was whistled for a violation.

That was as close as it would get, and as the clock ticked down, the Red Riots' fans savored their first-ever state field hockey title.

The Rebels won back-to-back state titles in 1977 and 1978, but had not been in the championship game again until last year, when they fell to Winthrop in sudden death overtime.

Because of rain delays and one replay, Saturday's championship game was the fourth game in five days for the Rebels.

On Tuesday of last week the Rebels and North Yarmouth Academy battled through two overtime and three sets of penalty shoot outs to a 0-0 tie, forcing a Wednesday replay, which the Rebels won 4-0. On Thursday, in Local voters do their thing

Something seems to have gotten under the skin of local voters, who by late Tuesday afternoon were turning out in possibly record numbers for a non-presidential election.

(Voting results—The Citizen goes to press many hours before the polls close, but the latest state and local election results will be available in Wednesday's edition of our daily affiliate, the Lewiston Sun.)

In Bethel, Election Warden Merton Brown said that within an hour and 20 minutes of the polls opening, approximately 300 residents had voted, and by mid-afternoon he had registered another 43 new voters.

Upton voters approve new wetland designations

By WENDY HANSCOM

At a special town meeting Nov. 1 seven Upton citizens turned out and approved an article that zoned 13 wetland areas in Upton as resource protected.

Town Clerk Clayton Thompson said that the state required the town to hold a special town meeting and designate what the town planned for its wetland areas.

Selectman Richard LeCompte, who served as moderator, said that Lake Umbagog was already protected due to shoreline zoning enacted in 1975.

According to LeCompte, the town had been surveyed by the state, which designated wetlands in the town.

The 13 areas which were protected by the town's vote include areas around the Cambridge River, B Pond and Molligowick Pond. LeCompte said that some of the areas were already zoned to protect them but that this was a "catch all and we got them all. We know everything is covered now," in regard to wetland zoning, he said.

Berlin revisited

By ANN MORTON

Nearly a year ago our family watched in amazement and jubilation as the Berlin Wall began to come down. Having lived in West Berlin for a year in 1978-79 within a quarter of a mile of the wall, we saw a dream coming true.

It was only natural that some of us returned to Berlin recently to see and experience the changes. My husband David, son Paul and I spent two days revisiting the area of the city where we lived, and traveled throughout East and West Berlin. It was our first stop on a journey through eastern Europe.

Paul took his hammer and chisel so he could chip out pieces of the wall, and we were amazed to find whole sections of the wall removed and unguarded, paved streets joining the two cities. These streets passed through the former "no-man's land" that until last year was patrolled and kept lighted to prevent escapes to the West. Paul and Dave climbed up into the remains of one guard tower from which, 11 years ago, guards watched us through the telescopic sights on their rifles.

We visited Friederich Strasse, where Checkpoint Charlie stood until it was recently removed and transported to a museum. We watched the street being paved to remove any traces of the small building which monitored the entrance of all Allied personnel, dependents and foreign tourists into East Berlin.

On the site where thousands have climbed up onto a platform that overlooked the guarded and fortified link between freedom and oppression, vendors now sell pieces of the wall and all manner of Russian and East German military equipment and uniforms. Hammers and chisels can even be rented from an enterprising vendor if you prefer to chisel away your own souvenir.

We observed that the Kaiser Wilhelm Church in West Berlin had become a gathering place for disenfranchised young people who congregated in the evening.

They showed no respect for the bombed-out church, which serves as a reminder of the near total destruction of Berlin during World War II and is a symbol of the rebirth of the city besieged by war and nearly crippled by the Blockade of 1948.

These rebellious young adults who have yearned for reunification but have no patience with an orderly transfer of power are another burden for the citizens of the city to face as they adjust to so many social and economic changes.

East Berlin also had its share of change, as dozens of huge cranes marked sites where new construction and refurbishing of prewar buildings could be seen. There has been little repair done in the past 40 years in many parts of the city.

It was especially thrilling for us to see the new roofs on churches which were bombed during World War II and have not been used since. In a city where prices, quality and quantity of goods were controlled by the government, it was amazing to see new shops filled with western goods and resembling modern shopping malls.

We wondered how the East German citizens felt about the changes. Anyone born in the past 40 years has lived with deprivation and shortages of consumer goods. On July 1 when the currency unification meant that prices and presumably salaries quadrupled and consumer goods began to flood in from the west, many must have experienced a Rip Van Winkle sensation.

We were told by an American servicewoman that many restrictions had been placed on military personnel and

Newry consultant doubts state figures on cost of SAD #44 withdrawal

By WENDY HANSCOM

The Newry Educational Committee, which is studying options for Newry students should the town withdraw from SAD #44, has held two meetings in recent weeks. The first on Oct. 26, was a meeting with educational consultant and former headmaster of Fryeburg Academy, Harry True. And on Nov. 2, the committee met with the team of consultants David W. Brown and Dale Doughty.

At the second meeting Doughty questioned state's analysis of the economic impact of a Newry withdrawal. He said the figures he ran through for the money that the district would lose do not match those supplied by Deputy Commissioner Richard Card of the Department of Education.

In May, when the town had a public hearing to discuss withdrawal, Card said the district would receive only between $25,000 and $30,000 in state subsidies if Newry withdrew. The towns of Andover, Woodstock, Bethel and Greenwood would then have to raise the additional moneys required to maintain the district budget at its present level. The figure quoted by Card at that time was half a million dollars.

But last week Doughty said that the district would get "close to $270,000 back" from the state, according to a preliminary estimate he had done.

If the new figure of $270,000 proves out, Doughty commented, "If you decide to go and they have no more access to you, those tuition dollars look more attractive," to the SAD #44 Board of Directors, who would have ultimate say in accepting Newry students.

Newry's last assessment by the district was approximately $729,000. Subtracting the $270,000 from that leaves $459,000. If Newry were to tuition back to the district their approx-

To Some Real Champs

Congratulations to the Telstar High School field hockey team—for the second year in a row the Western Maine Class C Champions. With their playoff scheduling disrupted by rain, darkness and one complete replay, the girls were forced to battle through four grueling games in five days.

They went toe-to-toe with the toughest competition Class C has to offer, and once again they came within a bounce or two of walking off with a state championship.

For seniors Jenn Gould, Kris Delano, Nancy Carter, Lynn Buckingham, Becky Hunt and Amy Laban the field hockey wars are now over. But for the rest of the squad, and for co-coaches Sally Hannon and Gail Wight, there's the sure knowledge that they'll be back in the fray next season—when they'll also be joined by newcomers from the talented middle school squad, which captured second place in the Sandy/Andy league last week.

In fact, in years to come Telstar may be fielding even stronger, more experienced teams—at least if the Telstar Athletic Boosters have anything to say about it.

A group of parents, fans and other supporters has been working hard this year to revitalize Telstar's long-neglected boosters club. Modeling their efforts on the successful Oxford Hills program, they hope to build the boosters' club into an organization that will eventually be able to sponsor badly needed youth programs in the elementary schools.

If successful, this could lead to still stronger Telstar athletic teams, but its positive impact would not end on the playing field.

By engaging more youngsters early in positive, cooperative activities, it will teach them the value of trying, "Just do it," whether you win, lose or draw.

In the process, they will learn the old fashioned way of building self-esteem. By accomplishment.

But for now, here's to the heroes of this fall season. To the field hockey players, to their coaches, managers and fans. And to the soccer players, both to the stars and to those who spent most of the season on the bench. And to the cross-country runners, to the speedy and to the back-of-the-pack sloggers gutting it out through the woods in the hopes of improving their team's showing.

They're all winners.

FOR QUICK ACTION IN TIME OF NEED—Bethel police officers Crawford Perry, left, and Warren Corliss, and Ambulance Service Director Arlene Greenleaf were presented with certificates of appreciation by the Bethel selectmen Monday. The certificates, presented on behalf of the town, were for the public servants' quick and effective action in response to a violent domestic dispute that occurred on Main Street on Oct. 6. The affair left Steven Binette hospitalized with serious stab wounds, James Corvieve under arrest and Officer Corliss hospitalized after being struck by a car while directing traffic at the scene. But said Police Chief Brian Stowell, the prompt, professional actions of Perry, Corliss and Greenleaf, "probably saved a life that night."

Voting

Celia Gorman, a veteran poll watcher (she's been a ballot clerk since the first term of FDR) estimated that the Bethel vote total could run to more than 1,000. That would be approximately 65 percent of the eligible electorate, Brown said, and a very high turnout for a non-presidential election. Poll watchers and ballot clerks in Woodstock, Greenwood and Newry also reported busy turnouts. Those who have talked with the voters are uncertain just what is motivating them to get out and vote. The referendum question on Sunday sales has generated a lot of interest, and negative campaigning may be playing a role. "People tell me all the negative ads, especially on television, have really hit a raw nerve," Brown said. And for some voters, the discontent may extend well beyond specific campaign strategies. Woodstock Town Deputy Clerk Betty Benner said, "A lot of people just aren't satisfied with what's going on."

Letters to the editor

The following is abridged from Tom Ford's letter to the Bethel Board of Appeals, in response to the Bethel Planning Board's approval last Wednesday of the Gleichen & Co. plans for 24 units of affordable housing, to be built as the first phase, called Phase II, of a 48-unit affordable housing project planned on an eight-acre lot off Mason Street and between Crescent Park School and Broad Street.

Board of Appeals Oct. 26, 1990
Town of Bethel
Dear Sirs:

As a resident of the Town of Bethel, and an abject admirer of the proposed Bethel Park Apartment project, I wish to register an appeal regarding the decision of the Planning Board on Wednesday, Oct. 24, on the following grounds:

1.) The public hearing on this project was held on a date which did not allow for the full time required notice of 10 days. The 10-day ruling should have been 10 days which the Post Office is open; in this case the Post Office was only open eight days. The process seemed unnecessarily hurried considering the unfinished state of the proposal.

2.) On the night of the public hearing I made a motion from the floor that the meeting be adjourned until such time as all reports and final plans were available for discussion; this motion was omitted from the official minutes of the meeting.

3.) On the night of the public hearing discussion was limited by the Chairman to one hour for discussion in favor of the project, and one hour for discussion opposing the project; debate was not allowed to continue past a time limit which the Chairman set, and the statements of the town manager supporting the project were mainly offered during the time allocated for discussion in opposition.

4.) At the conclusion of the Public Hearing the consensus of the audience was that should the project be changed in the plan as presented by the developer, or new information received from the various agencies, a second hearing would be held.

5.) On subsequent nights of meetings held by the Planning Board, the design of the project was changed substantially as new reports were forthcoming; the Chairman declared that the public could no longer count on the Planning Board meetings because the public hearing had been held. The Board further determined that because the changes were not substantial, a second hearing was not required.

In point of fact, a significant portion of the property has now been declared "wetland." However, the developer has stated that the project will go ahead as planned, with the original "Phase II" being constructed first, followed by the designated "Phase I." "Phase I" rests wholly within designated wetland, and I question whether the construction of "Phase II" can be accomplished without heavy equipment significantly disturbing the wetland. Not only has the order in which construction is planned changed; but the design of the retention pond is entirely different from the original plan.

The Planning Board contends that because "wetlands" do not appear in the town plan, they are not required to be concerned with the matter; that their only concern are those things which appear in the original ordinances. However, since the development of the ordinances under which the Planning Board operates, new guidelines have come from both the state and federal government with regard to conservation of wetlands. To not update plans would appear to be a dereliction of duty, or at least very shortsighted.

This project is being constructed adjacent to the town's historic district. The properties which abut the project are for the most part large, single-family dwellings valued at more than $100,000. I question whether the construction of a 24 affordable housing unit on the property does not significantly alter the character of the district, and severely lower the value of the abutting properties. In other communities where the developer has constructed similar projects, the adjacent properties are either commercial, or small single or multi-family dwellings, and appear to be valued at less than $100,000.

The Chairman of the Planning Board indicated to me prior to their last regular meeting that the discussion at the public hearing had only centered on the issue of the wetland and drainage; that the Planning Board had discharged its duty in regard to that issue; and that no one at the public hearing voiced any concerns about the change in the character to the town, or the devaluation of property. I contend that because public debate was limited, this issue was not allowed to reach the floor.

The developer maintains that affordable housing is a need in the community; however, this entire project was tied to the receipt by the town of a block grant to alleviate the serious malfunctioning of the wastewater treatment plant. In order to qualify for this grant, it was necessary to prove that there would be benefit to low-income individuals; and with the placement of this project at the head of the proposed revamped section of storm drains it was possible to qualify for the grant. I maintain that there are within the town limits, significant numbers of households which would be termed "low-income," and that they would benefit from the redesign and construction of the storm drain project thereby qualifying us for the grant without the addition of this affordable housing unit. Further it has always been contended that the residents who will qualify for this project, and will be its occupants are currently residents of Bethel in need of affordable housing. It would appear, therefore, that the issue of qualifying for the block grant has already been met, and that in fact to tie one project to the other may in fact be unethical.

Through the office of the Town Manager the citizens have been given to believe that without the block grant to alleviate the problems at the wastewater treatment plant, there could be no new building in Bethel; and that by having the Bethel Park Apartment project located on this property, which is adjacent to the street where the storm drain is to be replaced, the town would be eligible to receive the grant monies thereby repairing the wastewater situation and allowing the moratorium on new hook-ups to be lifted.

This project has been placed adjacent to the elementary school, which at first glance would appear appropriate. However, the school is located at the end of a dead-end street, not heavily trafficked, and with playground spaces which about many residences. This playground would become an "attractive nuisance" to the many children who would live in the affordable housing project. There would be no supervision of children in and around the playground and its equipment, and no ready assistance for a child who became injured. At the present time, the after-hours use of the playground is minimal. Further there is the chance for increased vandalism at the school with the residential proximity of a large number of children.

I would like to contend that:

- 1.) The need for affordable housing in Bethel has not been clearly demonstrated.
- 2.) Should the need truly exist, the proposed location of the Bethel Park Apartment projects is entirely inappropriate.
- 3.) That the character of the center of Bethel will be severely compromised, resulting in many losses, including visitors to the historic district.

4.) Should the project be constructed on this property, the value of my property as well as that of all the other residents of the historic district will be severely decreased and significant tax abatements will most certainly be expected.

I am distressed that a developer who most certainly "knows the ropes" has been able to play to the heartstrings of all of us who favor adequate housing for all peoples and jeopardize the very heart of the village with a scheme that ultimately favors only the developer.

Thank you,
Thomas J. Ford

AIDS AWARENESS PROGRAM

The public is invited to the Community AIDS Awareness Program meeting to be held on Wednesday, Nov. 7, at 7 p.m. in the Jury Room of the Ramford Municipal Building. It will be the last meeting of 1990, and a decision will be made about continuing CAAP for the next year.

Six new members are needed to attend the meeting and to help plan additional services and education for the area.

The one-hour meeting's agenda will include information on "not for profit" status; the New Brunswick conference for the AIDS Support Group facilitation; and use of materials provided by Maine AIDS Alliance.

To the Editor:

To all of Emily Saunders' friends this is to let you know that she is now at Ledgeview Nursing Home. When you make your visit to see Emily, please remember to include her. She may not know you but she sure will understand the universal language of a hug, some laughter or, if you have time, a short walk up the corridor or outside around the building. You could read an amusing story to her or a verse from the Bible. Emily may not be able to hear, but she will feel your love and happiness to her and also to her family.

WOMEN'S BUREAU OF DEPARTMENT OF LABOR

To the Editor:

We're 70 years old this year and have been in the business of improving employment opportunities for women since the earliest days of this century.

Who are we? We're the Women's Bureau of the U.S. Department of Labor, the only Federal agency devoted exclusively to the welfare of wage earning women through better working conditions, better pay and increased employment opportunities.

Since our creation by Congress in 1920, we have been involved in many issues concerning women in the work force, including labor reform, training programs for women, on-site nursery schools during the war years, the Equal Pay Act and improved health and safety conditions at the workplace.

With increasing numbers of women entering the work force—37 million today—we are faced with many new challenges.

Our series of feature articles appearing in the October issue of News USA will give your readers information about the latest facts on childcare, careers for women in the electronic media, women in management, women business owners, and more.

FROM THE Bethel Town Office

In this week's column I will touch on Bethel's growing reputation as an example for other towns to follow, our efforts at enforcing the automobile junkyard law and recognize an individual who has contributed a great deal to the youth of the area.

As the selectmen and I and others such as the Affordable Housing Committee travel throughout the state to attend meetings, workshops and conferences with other municipal officials, we are increasingly hearing people refer to Bethel as an example to follow and if a community wants to know how to handle a particular situation then they should contact Bethel. "The Maine Townsman," which is published by the Maine Municipal Association, frequently includes Bethel in their articles. The planning and growth management article on Bethel was printed in its entirety in the magazine in March. In addition this column was mentioned in length in a past article on how municipal officials communicate to their constituents, and Bob Saunders of the Water District was interviewed for an article on the impact of the Safe Water Drinking Act in the September edition of the magazine. Recently I was interviewed for an article on dealing with the press. My comments will be published in a future edition of the "Maine Townsman."

Bethel has always had a reputation throughout the state as an outstanding recreational area and a beautiful place to live. Now, we are gaining a statewide reputation as an example for other towns and cities in Maine as well as from other parts of the United States.

A recent article in the "Bethel Citizen" reported on our efforts to remove junk autos from the town and our efforts at enforcing the state automobile junkyard law. To date our efforts have been fairly successful as we have been able to get junk vehicles removed from the sites.

We wish to extend our appreciation to the landowners who have cooperated with us on this project.

On behalf of the Bethel Board of Selectmen, the Bethel community and myself, I wish to extend our appreciation and thank you to Raymond Harrington for his service to the area as Scoutmaster of Boy Scout Troop #666 from September, 1980 to September of this year. Since Troop #666 was formed in 1951, eight young men achieved the rank of Eagle Scout, five of those were advanced during Ray's tenure as Scoutmaster. Certainly Ray is to be congratulated for this remarkable record. It is illustrative of the hard work and dedication that he and others have put into making Troop #666 one of the best Boy Scout troops in the state.

Both the selectmen and myself wish to extend our sincere sympathies to the family and friends of Laurence Bartlett over their recent loss. I have known Laurence almost since I first came to Bethel. We would always say "Hi" and at times we would stop to chat about an old friend of mine who was his roommate at Yogan.

In closing, on behalf of the Town of Bethel, the selectmen and myself, we wish to extend our thank you and appreciation to the Bethel area veterans

THIS WEEK AT THE

Moses Mason House

About 50 members and friends gathered for the November monthly meeting of the Bethel Historical Society held in the meeting room of the Dr. Moses Mason House Thursday evening to hear a slide presentation on the history of Vernon Street, presented by Geraldine S. Howe.

The street's origins extended back to the middle of the 19th century according to Mrs. Howe. It also seems that the street did not originally extend to Main Street but was reached by a road at the end of the present Clark Street. No one can be certain of this, but some deeds of this early period seem to point in that direction.

Among the first to build houses here were Thomas Jefferson Foster, Clark S. Edwards and Joseph Twitchell. Rev. Zenas Thompson, the first minister of the Universalist Church, also built a house here, prior to 1857 (now the home of Dave and Marcia Denison). Several prominent Bethel businessmen have made their home here according to Mrs. Howe. These include Calvin Bisbee and Oliver H. Mason.

In addition, Dr. John Trinward, who practiced dentistry for over 30 years in Bethel once lived on Vernon Street. Greenleaf Funeral Home, a Bethel institution for more than 50 years is still located on Vernon Street and in the days of Sherman Greenleaf was also the site of his extensive veterinary practice. Dr. Greenleaf once assisted with the care of dogs used by Admiral Richard Byrd in the Antarctic.

Vernon Street is also the site of numerous businesses as well as residences and is where one of Bethel's most venerable organizations is today—the Mundt-Allen American Legion Post. It is home to two of Bethel's current selectmen and of course was home to one of Bethel's greatest Democratic political luminaries, Clark S. Edwards, Democratic candidate for Governor of Maine in 1958.

Mrs. Howe traced the history of each house and building site on the street to the Greenwood line, providing a number of interesting (and sometimes amusing) stories to enhance the history of this Bethel street. She recorded the Ski-Tow site, the several barns that once dotted the street, the dance hall now gone, and other buildings that have disappeared through the years.

LOOKING BACK

10 years ago: Bethel voters backed the Reagan-Bush team in the presidential election. Open house was held at the Locke Mills Elementary School and featured two singing groups led by Susan Mitchell, SAD #44 Music Director. who served in our nation's wars. Hopefully on Nov. 11 we can all find some small way in which to recognize them for their service to their country. As a personal comment, even though I am a Vietnam Veteran, I feel that we should do more to recognize those veterans who served in the Korean War. At times it seems that we have almost forgotten the Korean War veterans who fought to turn back Communist aggression in the early days of the Cold War.

Western Maine Alliance urges the region to 'hang together'

"If we don't hang together, we shall assuredly hang separately." This was Ben Franklin's advice to the 13 colonies in the 1770's. The Western Maine Alliance hopes a new program will help leaders and communities 'hang together.'

The Rural Leaders' Forum was created by the alliance in cooperation with the University of Maine at Farmington. Its goal is to help existing and emerging leaders in private business, local and state government, education and non-profit organizations become more effective in their occupations, communities and everyday life.

"Our region includes Oxford, Franklin, northern Androscoggin, Somerset and Piscataquis counties," said Paul Lowe, executive director of the alliance. "It's mostly rural, with close ties to the land and an uncertain regional leadership, identity and political clout."

Lowe said there were two premises for the forum. "First, better people make better leaders. Second, better communication and cooperation are essential to improving our economy and quality of life. We've got to work together more, and reinvent the wheel less."

The forum is adapted from similar, successful programs in northern Maine and the Kennebec Valley. Full-day sessions, held once a month from December through June, will explore key issues impacting the region—its economy, education and social services, state government and the environment.

"We'll emphasize future challenges and solutions, and practical leadership skills to achieve those solutions," said Lowe.

Michael Orenduff, president of the University of Maine at Farmington, is enthusiastic. "The Rural Leaders' Forum is unique," he said. "By combining issues and skills, aimed at western Maine as a whole, it offers a great opportunity for our businesses, organizations and communities—for the whole region."

Forum meetings will be held in different towns in the region, with one session in Augusta to provide first-hand ways of getting results through the democratic process. Enrollment will be limited to 30 people, providing the greater individual growth and participation.

The alliance urges anyone wishing more information to call them at 778-9338 immediately; participants will be selected by late November.

Marti Stevens, co-owner of the Lakewood Theater in Skowhegan, is the forum's steering committee. "We need to build a broad-based team with the vision to manage change," she said. "I hope people from many towns and occupations will join us."

Tuition for the entire program is $500 per person. The forum's steering committee plans to recruit scholarships from civic organizations, the media and others.

INDIAN SUMMER and record temperatures blessed the region over the weekend, but by election day winter was once again in the wind.

Planning Board cancels meeting on BPA appeal

The Bethel Planning Board scheduled, then canceled, an emergency meeting for tonight, Nov. 7, to deal with the charges raised in the appeal of its approval of the Bethel Park Apartments project.

Planning Board Chairman Dennis Doyon announced the meeting early yesterday morning. But a short time later, following consultation with the town's legal counsel, planning assistant Stacy Benjamin said the meeting had been called off.

The planning board approved the low-income apartment project on Oct. 24, over the protest of some abutting or neighboring property owners.

Thomas and Wendy Ford promptly filed an appeal with the town Board of Appeals, protesting various aspects of the project and the manner in which it was approved (see "Letters" column, page 2). The Ford's Board Street property abuts the project, and of all the abutting properties, shares the longest common line with it.

The appeals board has scheduled a hearing for Thursday, Nov. 15, at Telstar High School, to review the Ford's appeal.

Planning Board Chairman Doyon said Tuesday that the now-canceled emergency meeting was to be devoted to addressing the issues raised by the appeal, "so that we have proper preparation to go to the appeal with." Benjamin said the matter will now be dealt with through correspondence.

their dependents regarding shopping in East Berlin in the months prior to July 1.

Items such as feather beds, linens, and traditional German goods were being brought up in great numbers under the system that made the dollar worth eight times as much as the East Mark. We were told that Russian soldiers, seeing an end to their tour of duty in East Berlin, were stripping the shelves of consumer goods that might be in short supply back in the Soviet Union.

Since our visit, the Allied Forces have turned over control of West Berlin to the German citizens. As Americans, French, British and Russian military personnel and their dependents leave the cities of East and West Berlin, their living quarters and office buildings will be occupied by Germans seeking to settle in the newly reinstated capital.

As we left Berlin to travel through East Germany, we thought about the many events of the past year that have set the stage for a rebirth of a city, a country, and a people. While large sections of the Berlin Wall are stacked up, ready to be sold to the highest bidder, parts of this 110 mile barrier will remain as a reminder to German people of an incredible era in their history. The world will be watching, and we felt fortunate to have experienced life in the divided city in order to better appreciate the challenge and hope of a united one.

Christmas

gram raised over $8,000 and provided assistance to over 60 families in the community. Many individuals, clubs, and organizations have helped make this program the community success that it is. It appears likely that families in the Andover, Woodstock, Greenwood and Bethel area would benefit from continued support during the holiday season.

The fund-raising aspect of the program has two basic components. Murphy has already once again contacted many organizations in the area to seek their financial support. In addition, individuals in the community are also being asked to contribute whatever they can to help in this worthwhile cause.

On Dec. 20, the last day of the program, volunteers will purchase the new toys and deliver them to a central location, where they can be picked up by families requesting assistance. All toys purchased will be traditional favorites such as dolls, trucks, sport equipment, etc. Any families seeking assistance are urged to contact Murphy in writing as soon as possible. All requests will be kept completely confidential and should include the parents' name, address, telephone number (or if available the telephone number of a friend or relative) and the name, sex and age of each child up to the age of 12. Requests should be mailed to Bethel Rotary Christmas for Children, R.F.D. #1, Box 178, Bethel, Me., 04217.

Individuals in the community wishing to make financial donations are encouraged to do so. These contributions should also be dropped off at the Crescent Park School in Bethel, the Andover School, the Woodstock School, or Prim's Pharmacy in Bethel.

Anyone wishing additional information is urged to contact Murphy at 824-2839 (office) or 824-2911 (home).

The goal for this year is $5,000. This needs to be raised in under two months. Working together as a community we can add some smiles and laughter on Christmas morning. Please help us in this worthwhile cause.

imate 52 students at the state average tuition rate, which Doughty said he thought was about $4,000, that would reduce the shortfall from $459,000 to $231,000.

The rough estimate of the shortfall using the above figures could be as low as $221,000, subtracting the $30,000 that Newry has as incurred debt to the district for the construction of the Woodstock School. Newry would be required to continue paying the $30,000 per year until 1995, even in the event of withdrawal.

The Newry committee is made up of Jim Sysko, selectman, municipal officer representative to the committee and chairman; Allison Aloisio, school board director; Francis "H" Berry, citizen at large; and David Bartlett, petition supporter and secretary to the committee.

The state department of education stipulated that the committee include a municipal officer, school board director, petition supporter and general citizen.

Sysko outlined the history of the withdrawal issue at recent meetings with consultants. The concerns that surfaced at the public hearing before the town went to a referendum vote on the proposed withdrawal included concerns about the quality of education, the fact that five percent of the students attending the district schools are from Newry but Newry pays 24 percent of the district's budget, and concerns that Newry's relatively low population gives it little voting power at school board and budget meetings.

At the Oct. 28 meeting Sysko told True (regarding prospective high school solutions) "Our situation is that we have Gould Academy in town (Bethel). It's the first thing that comes to mind, so people ask 'Why don't we send at least our high school students there?' but they (Gould) have a scholastic test for admissions. What do we do with the kids that don't qualify?" True said that to his knowledge the state would require the town to have a contracted public education alternative.

Initial contact with Mountain Valley High School Administrators has indicated that there would be room for Newry students at the high school level and possibly the middle school.

At last week's meeting, the committee questioned Doughty regarding sending students to Gould Academy with taxpayers money, because not all the teachers at Gould are certified. According to Doughty the only thing the town would be giving is state subsidy money, and since the town would be receiving no state subsidies, he said "to my knowledge Newry can send students to Gould without any legal difficulties."

Doughty cautioned the committee, however, that if they enter into private education for high school students that they may want to "put limitations on where the kids can go."

Townpeople have also expressed an interest in the possibility of turning the

R.C. Foster Building, which is currently being used as a Municipal Building, back to its original use as a schoolhouse, for grades K to six and possibly seven and eight.

Doughty said that any report he might prepare for the town would have to look at the issue from both sides and to include the impact that the withdrawal may have on SAD #44. "My guess is the only impact you're going to bring to SAD #44 is financial," said Doughty.

The committee questioned if the state might ultimately refuse to allow Newry to withdraw and Doughty replied "I don't think it's going to be a possibility in the world that the state will stop it." Doughty said the state requires a school board member on the committee to aid in determining what the impact may be on the portion of the district left after a withdrawal.

Telstar's Mock Election

The 1990 Mock Election at Telstar on Nov. 1 resulted in a dead tie for the governorship. John McKernan and Joseph Brennan both received 94 votes, with Andrew Adam receiving 13 as the Independent.

The other races were decided with wide margins. The winners were William Cohen for U.S. Senate, Olympia Snowe for Congress, Jeffery Mills for state senator from District 49, Sue Fraser for representative to the Legislature for District 49, and Lloyd Herrick for Oxford County sheriff.

In the referendum balloting the students approved six questions and turned down three—bond issues for the acquisition of rail lines, purchase of public lands and for construction of new prison facilities.

The Mock Election was organized and overseen by Rodney Abbott's Public Issues classes. Students formed campaign committees for the Republican and Democrat candidates, registered students and staff members, campaigned for their preferred candidates, supervised the election itself on Nov. 1, and counted the ballots.

The classes were visited by candidates for State Senate, State House of Representatives, and Oxford County sheriff.

On Nov. 1, Mr. Abbott drove Christian Hutchins, Chris Hoyt, George Waterman, Jennifer Pelt and Kim York to the Gardner Armory to participate in the activities at Maine's Mock Election Headquarters. They met with Governor John McKernan and the Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate, Neil Rolde. Several candidates for the state legislature spoke, students debated various issues, and refreshments were served.

State Fire Marshal's Office urges wood stove safety

In the aftermath of recent increases in oil prices, the State Fire Marshal's Office is urging homeowners who burn wood to inspect their stoves and chimneys before cold weather arrives.

Fire Marshal Don Bisset said, "I'm concerned that some homeowners, reacting to fuel oil price increases, will resort to short cuts to heat their homes this winter."

Bisset said some of those shortcuts are: improperly installing a wood stove, not cleaning chimneys and stoves, and using green wood as a fuel source, instead of seasoned, dry wood.

"I urge all Mainers not to sacrifice the safety of their families by cutting corners," Bisset said. "Wood is an excellent source of heat in Maine, but there are many safety precautions that need to be followed in order to burn it properly and safely," he said.

Bisset said many residents, who have not used their wood stoves regularly in recent years, may be reactivating them because of rising oil prices. Mainers may not have an adequate supply of seasoned, dry wood to burn and may resort to burning green wood, which can cause the build up of creosote in stove pipes and chimneys.

Bisset said many local fire departments, building inspectors and chimney sweeps will inspect a wood stove and chimney.

He said the Maine Energy Conservation Division of the Department of Economic and Community Development has published a 16-page brochure entitled, "Maine Woodburning Guide."

That booklet answers many questions about wood stove installations and using wood as a heat source. The brochure is available by writing to Energy Conservation Division, State House, Station 53, Augusta, Me., 04333, or call 285-6000.

MSHA first time home buyers money available

The Maine State Housing Authority's new $210 million program for first time home buyers, offering mortgage loans with interest rates as low as five percent to qualified borrowers, begins this week at 25 participating lenders throughout Maine, MSHA Director Dwight A. Sewell said today.

The program is the first financing from the MSHA's $210 million bond sale in September. The fall program will use about $50 million in financing loans for approximately 1,000 Maine working families, Sewell said.

"This program will enable many Maine families who cannot afford a conventional mortgage to become homeowners for the first time," said Sewell. "Using our program instead of a conventional bank loan saves borrowers thousands of dollars over the life of the mortgage."

The MSHA program has three different interest rates, depending on the income of the first time home buyer.

Families with incomes of $16,000 or less a year may be eligible for a five percent loan. Those with incomes up to $24,000 may be eligible for mortgage loans with an interest rate of seven percent.

The basic program provides loans at an interest rate of 8.75 percent. Income limits for that program range from $31,000 to $37,000, depending on family size and location of the home.

"Recent changes in federal regulations allow us to adjust the incomes for larger families, and for those living in areas of the state where home prices are high," Sewell explained. "For example, a family of three living in Cumberland County could have an income of $37,000, while families in remaining counties would have an income limit of $35,000, and be eligible to apply for our program."

In addition to the low interest rates, the MSHA program provides borrowers a long repayment term and a fixed interest rate, so that the mortgage cost will not increase during the life of the loan.

CPS students asked to read 1,000,000 minutes

One million minutes of reading is the challenge being issued to Crescent Park School students and parents by their principal Mr. David W. Murphy.

Over the next few months, children and families alike are being asked to join in this challenge by reading at home either individually or to each other.

Each family will receive a card on which to record their minutes of reading. Parents, grandparents and other relatives are welcome and urged to participate. When an adult reads aloud to a child, the time may be doubled.

The project kick-off will be held at CPS during the day of Nov. 14, The Day of the Young Reader. On that day, over 80 parents, grandparents, community leaders, businessmen and friends of the CPS will be sharing their favorite children's books with the students.

Three areas of the building will be designated as Reading Sites. Children will be allowed to visit a Reading Site at various times throughout the day.

A community celebration will be held when the million minute mark is reached. Individuals interested in spending 10-15 minutes reading to children that day should contact Mr. Murphy or Mrs. Morgan at 824-2839.

New clearcutting rules adopted

Rules regulating clearcutting and setting standards for regenerating new stands of trees on clearcut areas in Maine's 17.6 million acre forest have been adopted, according to C. Edwin Meadows Jr., commissioner of the Maine Department of Conservation.

The 1989 Forest Practices Act defines clearcuts, sets a limit of 10 years between successive clearcuts, and requires management plans for clearcuts over 50 acres.

The act directs the department to develop rules applying to any clearcut more than five acres.

"The rules create two primary categories of clearcut; those from five to 35 acres, and those that are more than 35, but less than 125 acres. To carry out the intent of the law, more stringent requirements apply to larger clearcuts. A forest manager can get an exception to clearcut up to 250 acres, but must meet stricter forestry, wildlife and environmental standards as the size of the harvest increases," Meadows said.

The rules, which become effective on Jan. 1, 1991, will:

- Establish standards for regenerating new stands of trees on all clearcut areas;
- Require management plans for clearcuts of more than 50 acres;
- Establish separation zones between clearcuts of at least 250 feet and up to 1,000 feet;
- Require that adjacent standing timber up to twice the area of a clearcut be maintained; partial cutting is allowed in these areas;
- Place special regeneration standards on clearcuts larger than 125 acres; and
- Limit clearcuts to no more than 250 acres.

The rules were developed by the Maine Forest Service over a 14 month period. The agency obtained public comments during 15 workshops held throughout the state and a public hearing conducted in three locations.

A panel of experts in wildlife, forestry and natural resource management also worked with the Forest Service to help develop the rules.

"We made an extra effort to hold numerous public meetings throughout the state, providing an open, public forum to discuss the rules as they were being developed."

Many suggestions made during these sessions have been incorporated into the rules we adopted," Meadows said.

John Cashwell, director of the Maine Forest Service, says the rules allow productive forest management to occur while calling for consideration of wildlife habitat needs and other forest values.

"Under the rules, landowners who wish to clearcut more than 35 acres may do so if a forested area at least 1.5 times the size of the clearcut is left adjacent to the clearcut for 10 years. Landowners who wish to clearcut more than 125 acres may do so only by exception. Such cuts require leaving a forested area of twice the size of each clearcut to provide wildlife and water quality protection."

The distribution and separation of clearcuts is critical to wildlife. The rules increase the size of adjacent stands of timber as the size of the clearcut increases.

In addition, clearcuts larger than 125 acres require a long-term management commitment to meet future wood supply needs, by requiring thinning or planting to maintain standard stocking levels of commercial species," Cashwell said.

Other highlights of the rules include:

- Forest management terms are given standard definitions which must be used in municipal timber harvesting ordinances.
- Soil erosion, regeneration, effects on special wildlife habitats, and wind firmness of stands, must be addressed in required management plans.

Information about category II clearcuts, including their size and location, must be reported by landowners annually to the Maine Forest Service.

The Maine Forest Service will hire eight additional field foresters to help implement the new rules and provide technical assistance.

In addition, the Forest Service will discuss the rules and answer questions at information sessions to be held throughout the state this fall.

"These rules complement existing state and local laws and regulations protecting important resources such as water quality, wildlife habitat, and special natural resource areas, and are consistent with them," said Cashwell.

In 1983, 145,000 acres were clearcut in Maine out of a total of 325,000 acres landowners reported harvesting. The 145,000 acres are less than one percent of Maine's forestland base.

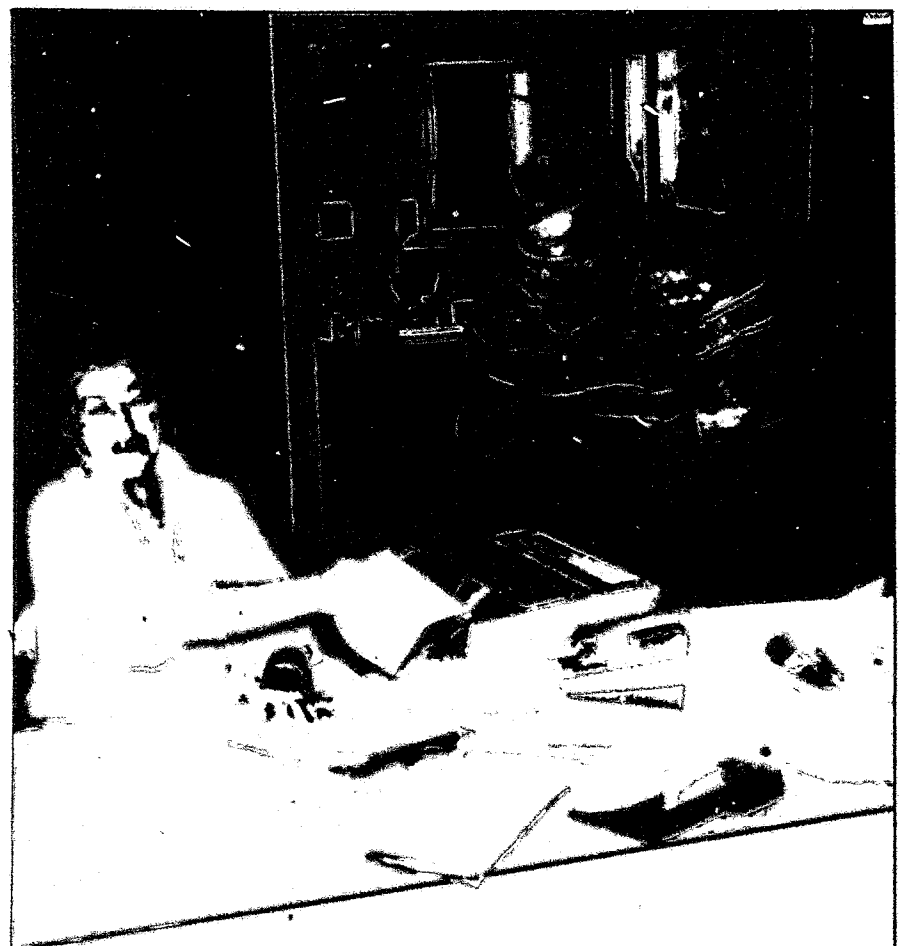

Copies of the rules and an information summary are available from the Maine Forest Service, Station 22, Augusta, Me., 04333, 289-2791, or in-state, 1-800-367-0223.

Evelyn Bean honored

Evelyn T. Bean of Bryant Pond was honored on Saturday at a reception at Riverside Temple #28, Pythian Sisters of South Berwick.

Mrs. Bean is a past grand chief of the Pythians of Maine and is now a past president of the State Past Chiefs Association of Maine, having earned the honors by serving as the treasurer for the state.

Many members of the order were present at the gathering from various sections of Maine, including Grace W. Horne, grand chief. Margaret Hurly of Kennebunk was also honored at this time as the President of the Association. Gifts, money and decorated cakes were on display at the reception, which was chaired by Lois Day, past grand chief, and Sandra Hanson, past grand chief, of South Berwick.

TAKE THAT, BOSS. After nearly 30 years at Newton & Tebbets, office manager Edda Carver retired last week, and got a little help from Roy Newton in cleaning out her desk. Edda and her husband, Babe, plan to split the year between their homes in Bethel and Vilano Beach, Fla.

Gould faculty, students back from annual Mt. Katahdin trip

Gould Academy faculty members Lorenzo Baker and Uel Gardner returned Sunday from Gould's annual Mt. Katahdin trip.

The brainchild of Baker, the Katahdin trip was introduced three years ago to acquaint the student body with one of Maine's most spectacular mountain ranges.

Though rain fell for most of their stay, the group was able to hike up South Turner for a sensational view of the surrounding area, and make a precarious crossing of the Knife Edge on Saturday.

Several large moose surprised the hikers, many of whom are from urban areas.

Student participants were Eric Janicki of Fayetteville, N.Y., Chris Drake and Aaron Cassidy of Cape Elizabeth, Me., Alex Versluis of West Hartford, Conn., David Koubek of Waldoboro, Me., Jose Samayoa and Luis Anguilar of Guatemala, Ben Dumey of Woolwich, Me., and Martha Newell, Samantha Langlois, Susan Crandall and Jason Walega of Bethel.

The Gould Academy Outing Club has several extended weekend trips each year open to all students.

Telstar Guidance

The first quarter of the 1990-91 school year has ended. As of Nov. 5th, high school students will have started their second ranking period. Students and teachers now know what to expect from each other. There are many opportunities and options for students to receive extra help (e.g. peer tutoring, adult tutors, after school help sessions, academic counseling or parent/teacher/student conferences).

The Guidance Department wishes to encourage parents and students who have academic difficulties to make plans now to receive extra help.

On Oct. 17th, Mr. Hart coordinated a Seniors College Admissions Workshop. Making presentations along with Mr. Hart were featured guest speakers: Mr. Ken Brown of Fryeburg Academy, Ms. Wendy Ault, admissions at the University of Maine at Farmington, Kathy Deners, admissions at the University of Maine at Lewiston/Auburn and Kathleen Tenhilly, admissions at New Hampshire Technical College, Berlin.

Seniors were divided up into five groups and attended five, twenty-minute college admission workshops. These included "Transition From High School to Home to College," "Students' Rights & Responsibilities," "The Application & Interview Process," "The Value of a Technical College Education," and "Financial Aid & Paperwork."

An excellent turnout of seniors attended this college planning workshop (92 of 98 seniors). A large percentage of the Class of 1991 are considering one, two or four-year post-secondary degree programs.

On Saturday, Oct. 20, the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test (PSAT) was administered at the Telstar High School Library. The PSAT is given as a trial run for those students considering S.A.T. College Board testing. The P.S.A.T. also has the National Merit test, where students may qualify for scholarships depending on their scores. Forty-three students took the PSAT, an all-time high since the PSAT has been given at Telstar. A large percentage of students taking the PSAT are sophomores and juniors.

Many college representatives and military recruiters are visiting the Telstar High School Guidance Office on a monthly basis. Please visit our office or call 824-2138, to determine when you might like to meet with one.

Mr. Hart is offering four weekly support groups this semester. Self Group is a self-esteem building support group which consists of twelve members, involving students in grades 9 through 12. Mr. Lavalley is offering two self groups this first semester. Students of various academic and social backgrounds are interested in the weekly "Time-out" that is provided by Self Group.

On November 15th, Mr. Hart will offer a Senior Job Search Workshop. This workshop is available to all seniors. Topics to be covered will include "How & Where To Find A Job," "The Application & Resume," and "How To Keep Your Job." Presenters for this "first time" workshop are: Mr. Hart, Cecilia Hoy, vice-president of the Bethel Savings Bank, Jeff Kelcourse, personnel manager at Sunday River Ski Resort, Mary Keith, employment officer at the Maine Job Service, Mr. Dewaine Craig, superintendent of SAD #44 and Robin Zinchuk, executive director of the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce.

The Guidance Information/Career education aides are busy with several activities. Recently, seven members attended a career education/peer helper program at P.R.V.T.C. in Portland. Future plans of the group include English class presentations, high school faculty presentations, and help sessions with individual students and community members. G.I.S. aides this school year are seniors: Cindy Hammel, Heidi Moore, Kim York; Juniors: Jen Adams, Jen Bailey, Matt Bean, George Bethel, Haley Blake, Derek Brennan, Pat Harrington, Victor Hart, Scott Higgins, Dustin Howe, Michelle Inman, Troy Wing and Sophomores: Devin Benson, Danielle Bernier, Fred Burk, Cory Campbell and Brandy Russo.

Prime Time Reading was a most enjoyable experience. Spending the night in the gym, enjoying reading, was a good time we would like to try again.

We had a great Halloween Party. Our three judges (Mary Baker, Margaret Hammett, and Margaret Glynn) did a fine job. All of the costume winners received either a yo-yo or a pair of spook eye glasses. The WPTA sponsored a fun evening on Halloween night.

The school photos have been sent home. Picture make-up day will be on Nov. 5, starting at 10:15 a.m. Pre-school students who have not been photographed are welcome, after the AM kindergarten make-ups.

The SRA test scores have arrived. Parents in grades three, five and six will be receiving the test results by mail within the next few days. Parents will receive a letter which describes your child's report. If parents have questions, please feel free to contact the school or discuss them with the teachers during parent conferences.

I would like to express my appreciation to all of the parents, grandparents and community members who have participated in the many events at school during the last few weeks. The community support is reflected in the fantastic children at the Woodstock School. They are the most polite children I have ever had the pleasure to work with.

Have a safe and fun weekend.

A week in the life of HILLARY HARRISON

Hidy, hidy, ho! How's it going? Great, here. About two weeks ago I went to a Halloween play with a friend of mine. It was really great; we got front row seats in the center and I got called up.

It was a scene where a mad scientist was really crazy. About every 30 seconds he would pull out his hair and music. He asked who wanted to get extra credit in class and pointed to me. Sheepishly, I stood up, walked to a table with test tubes and a large glass vase. He put acid in the big vase then poured its contents into a sixth test tube. Then he told me to mix them up while he wasn't looking. I did as he told me and he asked me which one had the acid in it. I forgot, so I just guessed. But then he asked me to drink one that I thought did not contain the acid. I responded a loud "no" quickly and ran back to my seat, frightened.

Telstar Middle School field hockey team second in Sandy/Andy

The Telstar Middle School field hockey team ended its season with a second place seating in the first Sandy/Andy League Championship game, which was played at Gould Academy.

"Despite the cold, windy weather I feel the team played their best game of the season," said Coach Elaine Hutchins.

The defense did an excellent job stopping and clearing the opponents ball, she said.

The forward line players moved the ball down the field but were unable to fire a ball into the goal cage. They made several unsuccessful attempts, but kept the pressure on throughout the game, the coach said.

Telstar's League record was tied with Tripp at 4-3.

In the championship game Tripp managed to score the only goal, with

'Age of Iron' show at Gould

William Senseney, a practicing blacksmith for the last 10 years, whose works adorn houses around New England, will open a show in person at the Owen Gallery on Friday, Nov. 9, from 7-9 p.m. His hand-drawn pieces can be seen in the Owen Gallery on the Gould Academy campus from Nov. 9 until Dec. 14.

While Senseney's work reflects the everyday nature of the traditional blacksmith—who made nails, latches, hinges, tools, grillwork, and gates—new tools and techniques have opened up whole new areas for wrought iron design.

Says Senseney, "With horsehoofing left to professional farriers, today's blacksmith is closer to art than many realize."

From his forge issue such items as a wrought iron rocking horse, a Shaker-style railing, a hand-topped cafe table, and a 18th century sled whose gently curved runners belie the heavy density of the iron medium.

Although his work initially aimed at reproducing 18th and 19th century iron, a growing percentage of it is now contemporary design. "In order to produce the best results and finest product I freely interchange modern technology with traditional hand operations."

The public is invited to the Nov. 9 reception, to view the pieces and to meet the artist. There is no charge. The Owen Gallery is open weekdays 8 a.m.-3 p.m., and weekends by appointment.

Mrs. Walter Heino, Mrs. Robert Tripp, Mrs. Albert Nelson Sr. and Mrs. Stanwood Nelson went to Lewiston Thursday to a restaurant for dinner. They spent the afternoon shopping. As it was Mrs. Nelson's birthday she had a most pleasant day.

The Rev. Janice Wilcox was a caller in town Friday. Everyone is always glad to see her.

Miss Shirley Grant of Auburn was a visitor at the Grant home over the weekend.

The Buck family had their annual Halloween party Saturday night. Their many friends and relatives joined them for a pleasant evening.

Mrs. Gladys Plummer, who was in the hospital for a few days, is now home.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gouin of Norway visited her mother, Helen Grover, Sunday.

The Greenwood Auxiliary Christmas craft fair will be held Saturday, Dec. 8, at the Greenwood Fire Station. Set-up will start at 9 a.m.

The Ladies Circle fall sale and lunch will be Friday, Nov. 16, at 10:30 a.m. at the Locke Mills Sunday School room. Luncheon will begin at 11:30 a.m. The ladies will be getting a set price this year for the lunch.

John and Lorraine Mills were supper guests of Rev. and Mrs. Robert Rainville in Mexico Wednesday evening. Afterwards they picked up Linda Hughes, Vickie, Jim and Rusty at the Brick Park and took them to Rumford Center where the church put on a praise party for the children. The church does not celebrate Halloween as such but in order to keep the children off the street, offers a party for those who care to attend. Games were played and D.L. Chopping, Sandy Nash and Craig Nash entertained with their famous Country Cousins singing group. Refreshments, including a pinata, were enjoyed by over 60 children and adults.

Helen Chase and Charlotte Cole visited at Ledgewick last week, then visited with Herman Cole and Becky and played 63 with them.

Rodney Cross remains very ill at his home. Daughter-in-law Nancy Cross and daughter Annie Frederick are taking care of him along with his daughter Lillian.

A good attendance was had at the Halloween dance. Margo Cunningham and Charlotte Cole got first prize for costumes and Mr. and Mrs. John Hallway got first prize.

Lee Mills was to undergo surgery again on his hip Wednesday morning, Oct. 31, at Stephens Memorial Hospital. John and Lorraine Mills visited him Tuesday evening as did his wife Mary and daughter-in-law Margaret.

Mary Besaw and Charlotte Cole entertained at Victorian Villa Nursing Home in Canton Friday. They played "Happy Birthday" to Lawrence Mason who just had his 80th birthday.

Mrs. Gladys Plummer, who was in the hospital for a few days, is now home. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gouin of Norway visited her mother, Helen Grover, Sunday.

blends were as minute as this one. Evelyn Johnson, Muriel Cole, Charlotte Cole and Vera Cross went down to see their great aunt and Vera's cousin, Lulu Swan, on Oct. 31 at Market Square Health Facility. It was her 81st birthday.

Airman Todd Swan has been home on leave for 13 days from the Air Force. While home he saw Telstar teachers, friends, relatives and observed early Thanksgiving and Christmas.

Todd returned recently to his new base at Grand Forks, N.D. His work there will be as an Apprentice Services Specialist.

North Paris

Saturday, Oct. 27, the West Paris Senior Citizens had a successful sale at the West Paris Grange Hall. A good crowd.

Saturday, Oct. 27, we had a full house at our supper at the North Paris Community Hall. Many thanks for all the good cooks. See you in April, 1991.

Sunday, Oct. 28, I went to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Felt's for an early Thanksgiving due to the fact that Jennie Felt's friend was home on furlough. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Silver, Jenn Felt and Todd Swan were present. Also had a birthday cake for Sharon Silver. A delicious dinner.

The weekend of Oct. 27 the "Mike" Spencers had as company her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Reidy of Tyngsboro, Mass., Mr. and Mrs. Larry DeAngelo of Chelmsford, Mass., and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Moorehouse of Chelmsford, Mass. They attended the dance at Locke Mills Town Hall. It was Joe and Norma Reidy's anniversary. The anniversary waltz was played for them. They all had a great time.

Robert Anderson of Massachusetts is spending several days at Mr. and Mrs. Joe Vatchers. They are hunting.

Tuesday, Oct. 30, Mione Record, Mary Smith and I went to Rich's grand opening at Auburn. What a mob.

Tuesday, Oct. 30, we had a community meeting at Joe Vatchers'.

My callers have been Francis Brooks, Richard Felt, Mary Smith, Joe Vatcher, Howard Anderson and Sherry Thayer who brought Jason. We visited Mr. and Mrs. Richard Felt and "Minnie" and "Bubba" Millett. Then Trick-or-Treaters came.

Mary Smith and I went to Locke Mills dance Saturday, Oct. 27. The Halloween costumes were great. Everyone had a lot of fun.

Thursday, Nov. 1, Mary Smith and I visited Gertrude Milroy at Market Square Nursing Home.

Newry

Maine Street '90 with chairlady June Swan... What a day. The Halloween Party at the Town Building for the Newry children Sunday, Oct. 28, sponsored by the Newry Mothers' Club... There were about 40 children and about 30 grownups, most of them in costumes. Bea Lowell furnished the apples for the bobbing game, and there were all kinds of prizes and goodies, spooky music, apple cider, punch, a spooky cave for the unwary... Games were played under the direction of the committee of Brenda Wight, Loreta, Terry and Cindy Moxey. Nancy Wight and a few more helpers. Prizes were given to: Number 1, Jody Littlefield for the scarriest; Number 2 went to his sister Julie who had two faces and costume, it was hard to tell whether she was coming or going; Number 25 was the funniest by Katie Wight; Number 14 was the most devilish by Stacie Littlefield, with a red face; Number 30 was the cutest little clown by Keven Wight; Number 32 was the prettiest witch by Chelsea Marshall; and the sweetest was Number 18, Billy Joe. There were videos and snapshots taken during the happenings... It was hard to tell who had the most fun—the children or the grownups. The Mothers Club thanks everyone who helped making the day a time to remember. It is too bad that the Bethel Citizen did not send someone to report and also take photographs for their paper.

The Newry ladies who bowl "for fun" at the Oxford Lanes in Rumford were Sylvia Wight, Olive Anderson, Bea Lowell, Louise Kelley, Gil Seely, Betsy Clark and Karlene Bachelder. Karlene was high on the triples with a score of 302, also high on singles with one string of 115 and one of 104. Gil was close with one of 110, Betsy with one of 104 and Bea with one of 105. Rena Powers was a guest. All went to lunch and did some shopping.

Dick Clark got himself a nice big buck last week, 220 pounds.

The Newry Mothers' Club will meet Nov. 12 at 7:30 in the Town Building. An auction will be conducted, so the members are reminded to bring some things to sell. Snack committee is Nancy Wight, Debbi Taylor and Eleanor Davis.

There are still squares available on the Maine Street '90 quilt at $1 each with any remembrance printed on them. Time is running out, so contact June Swan at the Town Office. Thank you.

Greenwood City

By COLISTA MORGAN

Again it is Thursday and a nice day. I have just come in from a walk. It's good walking weather when the last of the leaves are dropping from maples and other trees. The slow flowing woodland brooks are no longer concealed. The oaks still cling to their brown leathery foliage. The hillside and hardwood ridges, in the sunshine, make shafts of gold light among the tree trunks.

There are bracing days and tingling nights.

It's good to walk on the land in late October. There's a crispness in the air whether the sun shines or a few clouds cast a gray hue over the valley.

I notice the etched lichen pictures on the rocks.

The yellow-tan soil tells a story of a woodchuck den by the pasture fence or by a rock.

Squirrels dash along stone walls. These miles of walls represent years of labor put in by farmers. Could there have been a wilderness of tumbled stones, looking as if they might have been ousted out of a salshtaker, when the earth needed seasoning? Were the larger ones strewn thick in the fields? No matter what, these walls, with the help of oaks, neighbors and backaches have stood many, many years. They meander all over town, up and down rolling countryside, into byways, footpaths and around cattle pounds.

Many of the old dirt roads followed these walls drowsing in the mellow sunshine. They no longer fit our needs but their peace and beauty remind some of us of the stirring role they once played in our nation's growth.

The late wind and rainstorm with thunder and lightning brought me an unpleasant surprise. Possibly it would have you, if you were awakened in the night at 12:30 by thunder and the sound of music, especially if the music was playing "Happy Birthday to You" and it wasn't your birthday.

Well, it's this way: my door bell plays a battery and has six different tunes. A different one at each press of the button.

I was startled and did not turn on a light but took my flashlight, put on my robe and went to the door. No one was there and it was too early for the Halloween goblin so I went back to bed—wondering. I now think that the lightning did the ring. Did it choose the tune? I'll never know but whenever I hear that music it will bring a memory and a bit of a smile, which wasn't there that night.

Leonas Holt, who was ill for a few days, is better now.

I attended the Retired Teachers' meeting at Locke Mills on Saturday with Lettie Brooks and Olive Davis; John Betts was in Livermore Falls on Tuesday evening.

Marion Pulsifer entertained the Tuesday Club this week at her home. Dot Betts was in Portsmouth on Monday.

Rena Curtis had her family home for a cookout recently. There were 25 of them.

Marion Pulsifer recently entertained the Missionary Society of the Hebron Church. There were 11 present. Other callers were Paul True and two sons of Yarmouth and Mr. and Mrs. Felmore Messerv of Mechanic Falls.

The leaves have been very heavy in the yard. They have blown a lot away now but a lot more to get before snow flies. The Miclon girls helped haul off a lot into the lower field so the wind could get a clean sweep at them and fertilize the fields better. It was real thoughtful of them.

The clocks were set back one hour the first of the week. It gets dark quicker now. I dread getting the mail this winter in the dark. This hill can be icy and if one fell and broke a leg the night would be very long out there in the winter before you would be found, if ever.

High Street

By VIVA WHITMAN

Not a very pleasant morning for Monday morning but what can anyone expect? When we get sunshine like we did this summer we get a lot and the same seems to go for this fall and the rain. Everybody should have a full well if it keeps up the way it has.

Of course, there is a leak somewhere on the roof that lets the water leak down into the addition that we built on the mobile home and Russell set out a couple of pans last night to catch the water and has caught a lot. He said one pan was nearly full this morning. Hope it stops soon and he can find where the leak is.

This week has been one for me to sew and try to catch up with it while Peggy and Russell were at State Grange from Wednesday to Saturday. I sewed and sewed and sewed and have four pretty dresses waiting for two little girls to get them. Also got a couple of nighties in the making so you can see I was not idle while they were gone. Didn't have to get meals for anyone but myself and got them when I got ready so it worked out fine for me.

Still got cauliflower in the garden that is taking care of but without room one just don't know what to do with it. Hopefully a relative I called will come and get it.

Russell was busy trying to make up his mind what to take to State Grange so kept busy Monday and Tuesday with that as well as studying for degree work which we will be doing on some candidates the first meeting at Grange in November. It has been a long time since we worked degrees so they had to do lots of studying and rehearsing. He figured he wouldn't have time to do any studying at the State Grange session and didn't. He said they were busy from morning till late at night.

Wednesday morning we both had an appointment with the doctor to see if they could get the kinks out of our backs and get home to get lunch and see that everything was packed for Russell and Peggy to get under way at the right time.

They had two other folks going with them so packed as compactly as possible but said the car was bulging at the seams when all got loaded. However, they had a good time and that is what counts. We will be interested to have their report when it is possible. The Grange is so active in many subjects and help push through different bills, etc.

Bernard Hutchins came down on Thursday and got a few vegies and a bread mixer for them to use as they are starting up the D.J. Restaurant to day and I expect she wanted to make her own bread. Homemade bread is a good caller for folks to come in. He was in a hurry to get back and help her with the clearing so it was a short call.

Friday morning the electrician came and fixed a light for me and then did some other errands. Didn't do all I wanted to do as got to feeling miserable and went home. Not much fun shopping if one doesn't feel well.

Peggy and Russell got home a little after 4 p.m. on Saturday. I hadn't expected them quite that early but they had good luck and got home sooner than they had anticipated.

No dancing on Saturday evening. Russell said he hadn't slept too good at the motel so was tired and wanted to sleep in his own bed to get rested. Sunday afternoon we went to Bryant Pond to the Grange Hall and had a rehearsal for the degree work. Guess everyone thought someone else had started a fire and no one had so it was colder than a barn and we most froze before the fire got going to warm it up.

By the time we were ready to leave it was just getting warmed up some. It takes a hall a long time to heat. Anyway, we had our rehearsal and got another scheduled for next Sunday, same place, same time. Hope everyone will be there so we can get the degree work good for the new candidates.

Peggy went to West Bethel in the morning on Sunday but was back for lunch with us and to go to Bryant Pond.

Vieno Pike was a recent visitor at the Lovejoys. They always enjoy his visits.

Marsha Baxter spent the weekend with her mother in Skowhegan for enjoyment.

The Grange sale at West Paris Grange went well on Saturday. Mary said they had many tables to use with many different items for sale. Something for everybody. Am sorry I didn't make it down as planned. She said they sold lots of refreshments as well as the baked goods, there was a good variety of things and lots of folks to purchase so all went well and everyone wanted to participate in the spring in another sale. In the evening there was a dance and all had a good time. I believe it was to be a Finnish dance. If any of them did the real Finnish dances, it must have been great to watch.

The Historical Museum allows people to see what things were like years ago. Much has changed and much remains the same. Louise Newton has given a basket to the museum. The Historical Society has many books on antiques, art, music and literature as well as works on history. The November meeting of the Historical Society will be Nov. 10. There will be a silent auction and president Olive Risko will be in charge of the program.

Wednesday, Nov. 7, at 8 p.m., a special business meeting will be held at the Baptist Church.

Judith Grover Hunt will hold its regular meeting and nomination of officers on Nov. 12 at the Grange Hall. Don't forget to bring something to fill some stockings for the boys in the Middle East.

The Historical Society would like to thank the members of the Research Committee for all they do for the Society. They present a paper on something historical at every meeting, and they spend many hours answering questions people have about the town or genealogy or other historical topics.

Robert Hoyt has been visiting at his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hoyt, for a few days. He has left for Utah where he has winter employment.

MDOT says public can help improve snow removal efforts

The Maine Department of Transportation is preparing for another winter of snow removal and ice control of some 3,400 miles of Maine highways.

MDOT Highway Maintenance Engineer Richard H. Scofield points out that there are a number of things the public can do to assist DOT in its winter operations:

- Don't drive unnecessarily in a storm, especially during severe snowstorms and freezing rains.

- If a storm is anticipated, remove vehicles from the roadside shoulders. This allows plows to clear the area the first time through without having to return to clean it up later.

- Do not shovel snow or have your driveway plowed into the road. This can cause a serious traffic hazard. If possible, it is best to place snow on the side of your driveway opposite the direction from which the plow is coming. That way, the plow will carry snow away from your driveway rather than back into it.

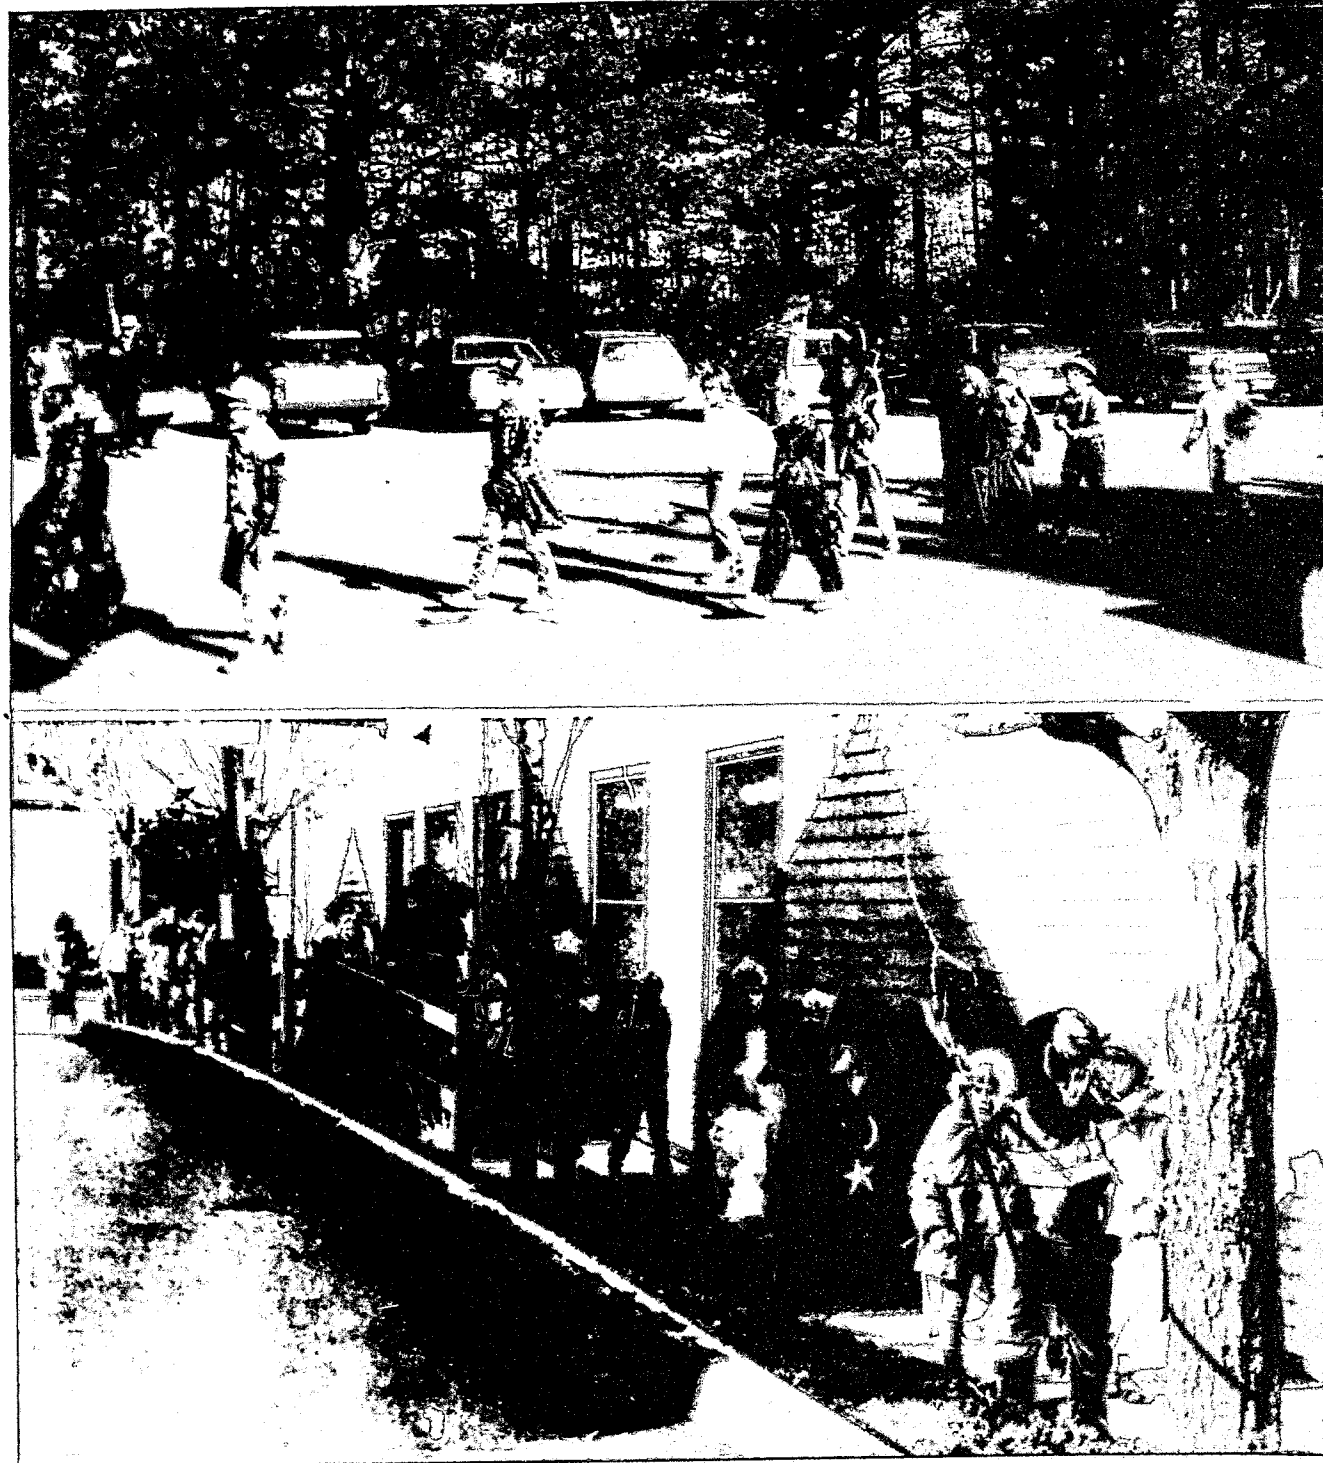

- If possible, wait until the highway has been plowed before cleaning out the end of your driveway. There is no practical way to plow the highway without depositing snow into your driveway.

- Help reduce the possibility of a broken mailbox post. MDOT plow operators are urged to take precautions to avoid hitting mailbox posts. However, experience has shown that with reduced visibility during a storm it is not always possible for a driver to see a post in time to avoid striking it with the wing of the plow. Any installation within the highway right of way, including a mailbox, is placed there at the owner's risk. Therefore, owners are encouraged to put mailboxes at the maximum useable distance from the roadway pavement. Posts should also be checked for deterioration or rot to reduce the possibility of their being broken off simply by the weight of plowed snow.

- Be sure your car is properly equipped for winter driving (snow or multi-seasonal tread tires, good wiper blades, etc.).

- Avoid calling MDOT offices during a bad storm unless absolutely necessary. MDOT personnel are extremely busy doing everything possible to cope with storm situations and it is better to keep telephone lines clear for emergency calls.

- Don't be misled by plow trucks riding with their plows up. They may be going in for fuel or repairs or be headed for another area. MDOT is not responsible for plowing all highways in the state—only so-called state highways. Local governments are responsible for plowing other roads and highways.

SPOOKY BUSINESS—There were ghosts and goblins wherever you looked last Wednesday. Some went about their strange business outside the Odeon Building, while others, top, prowled the Crescent Park School parking lot. The coven of CPS third-graders later went to the Sudbury Village Apartments, where they presented the residents with Jack O' Lanterns. Meanwhile, the friendly fellows to the right watched the spooks pass by outside the Locke Mountain Bed and Breakfast on the Sunday River Road.

- Refer complaints about non-state highways directly to local officials. MDOT is responsible for clearing some 3,400 miles of state highways, which requires the full attention of MDOT personnel and provides little or no time for relaying messages to town officials during storm situations.

Scofield says MDOT invites public cooperation in carrying out his suggestions. He also assures citizens of MDOT's desire to cause a minimum of inconvenience as winter maintenance duties are carried out.

Is your car ready for winter?

The American Automobile Association offers the following preventive maintenance tips to help increase your car's reliability during the coming cold winter.

- Change your oil before the cold weather sets in. Use the lightest weight oil recommended by the manufacturer in your owner's manual. Lighter weight oil helps the engine turn over with less effort from the battery or starter.
- Have your battery tested for cranking power. Also have the cables inspected and the connections tightened and cleaned of corrosion.
- Tires should be checked for abnormal and/or excessive wear. Worn tires will reduce the traction you need to both stop and go in bad weather.

- Check the strength and condition of your antifreeze. If the mixture is weak, low or dirty, consider having the cooling system flushed and checked for leaks then refilled to the proper level and 50/50 mixture good to -30 degrees F.

- Drive belts and coolant hoses should be checked for wear and cracks and replaced as needed. Check all the hose clamps for tightness and rust.
- Ignition wires should be replaced at or near 60,000 miles. Old and cracked wires will not conduct electricity to the spark plugs, and your car will skip or not start at all.

- Have your exhaust system thoroughly inspected for leaks. A leaking exhaust can put carbon monoxide fumes into your car and cause a blackout or worse. A leaking exhaust can be a killer.

As the old saying goes, "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure." A properly maintained car is a reliable car, and preventive maintenance will also reduce the number of emergency repairs that always come up when you can't afford to be without a car.

Money available for heating assistance

An energy assistance reserve fund, established by public law this year, provided up to $8 million to be advanced by the state for heating assistance so that low-income families can be served earlier in the heating season. The average benefit level has been set at $280, an increase of $35 over last year, said Kobritz.

Persons who are interested in applying for heating assistance should contact their local Community Action Agencies for information on when, where and how to apply, since starting dates and application procedures vary from agency to agency.

another defensive standoff, the Rebels edged top-seeded Yarmouth for the Western Maine Championship.

Despite this draining schedule, the Rebels showed up Saturday ready to play. "They were up for it," said co-coach Sally Hannon, pointing out that the Rebels not only outshot the Red Riots, but also had an 8-7 advantage in penalty corners.

The Rebels and their season with the Western Maine Class C and Mountain Valley Conference titles and with a 14-2-2 record, one game better than last season's.

Hannon predicted that they'll be a strong contender again next season. "We'll lose a few players, but we have a good group returning and we'll be back," she promised.

Gone next season will be starters, Jenn Gould, Delano, Nancy Carter and Lynn Buckingham, and subs Becky Hunt and Amy Laban.

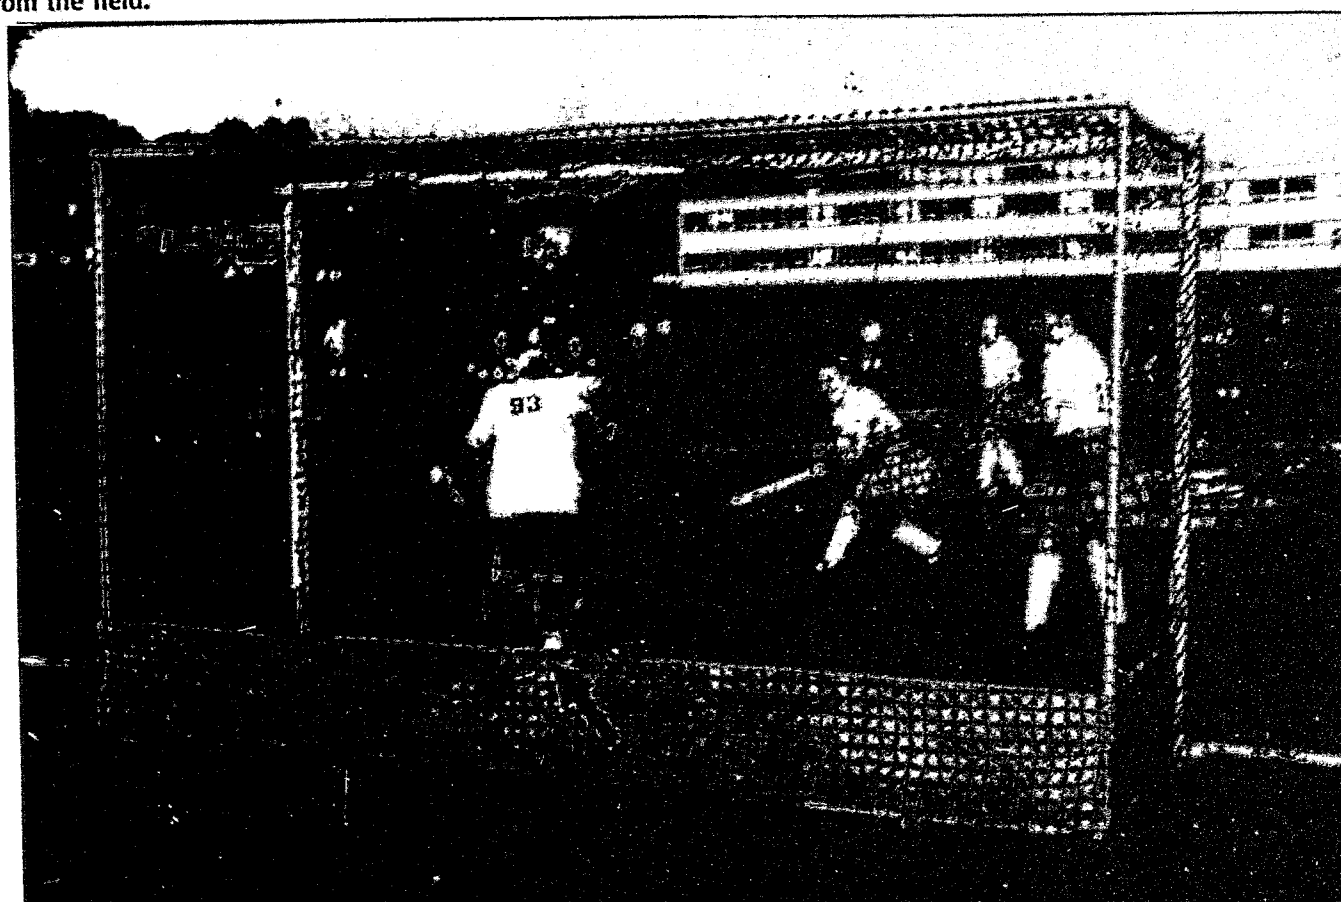

The top scorers for the Rebels this season were Delano (16 goals, 2 assists), Amy Hannon (13-7) Shilo Hutchins (6 goals), and Jenn Gould (6 goals). Adding to the Rebel totals were Crystal Chase (3 goals), Lynn Buckingham (2-4), Amy Laban (2-1) and Jen Bailey (2 assists).

At the other end of the field, veterans Bailey, Gould and Binki Gauthier anchored the defense, while newcomers Nancy Carter, Robin Michard and Suzanne Richardson came along strongly. And Bernier once again proved a standout stopper in the goal.

When the weary Western Maine/MVC champs returned home Saturday, they were greeted by scores of fans and treated to roses, munchies and hard-earned congratulations.

GO FOR IT! Scores of fans made the trip to Gardiner to cheer the Rebels on in the state championship game.

THE ONE THAT GOT AWAY—This Orono blast (the rebound is just visible behind goalie Danielle Bernier's right leg) was too fast to be stopped, and it crushed the Rebels hopes for a state championship ... this season.

ALEX—OR IS IT HIS TWIN, ANDREW?—chows down while his mom, Robin Gundersen and Gary Wight, follow the action.

Jon Owen takes silver in Calgary

Jon Owen of Bethel captured a silver medal in last week's North American Luge Championships, in Calgary, Canada.

The United States team took home two gold, a silver and a bronze medal. The race marked the start of the 1990/91 luge season.

Owen won his silver medal in the men's competition with a time of 1:36.185. The entire men's contingent did well, with Mark Grimmette finishing fourth in a time of 1:37.321 and Chris Thorpe finishing fifth at 1:37.562. Chris Cabral of Concord, Calif., and Brendy Reeves of Mt. Baldy, Calif. finished 12th and 13th respectively with times of 1:40.730 and 1:41.236.

Bonny Warner, five-time U.S. National Champion and two-time Olympian, of Mt. Baldy, Calif., was the top female finisher with a time of 1:33.426. Cynthia Wight of Whitefield, N.H., had a strong showing with a time of 1:34.710 to take the bronze.

In the doubles competition, a gold medal was won by the team of Chris Thorpe of Marquette, Mich. and Gordy Sheer of Croton, N.Y. which placed first with a time of 1:32.518. They were closely followed by the other U.S. team of Mark Grimmette of Muskegon, Mich. and Jon Edwards of South Weymouth, Mass., who finished fourth with a time of 1:34.940.

Wynton Marsalis to play in Lewiston

The artist primarily responsible for the current jazz renaissance will appear in Lewiston Saturday under the auspices of LA Arts.

Trumpeter Wynton Marsalis, featured recently on the cover of Time magazine, will perform with his eight-man band in a "tribute to the blues" at 8 p.m. in the Lewiston Junior High School.

Marsalis, 29, is the best-known member of a remarkable family of artists whose members include his father, the respected jazz pianist and composer Ellis Marsalis, and brothers Branford, a saxophonist, Delfesay, a trombonist, and Jason, a drummer.

Ellis Marsalis, through his work at the New Orleans Center for Creative Arts, helped revive his native city as a musical center and trained a generation of gifted musicians including his own sons.

At an age where most musicians are barely starting to make a name, Wynton Marsalis is already being compared with legendary giants such as Coltrane, Parker, Ellington and Armstrong.

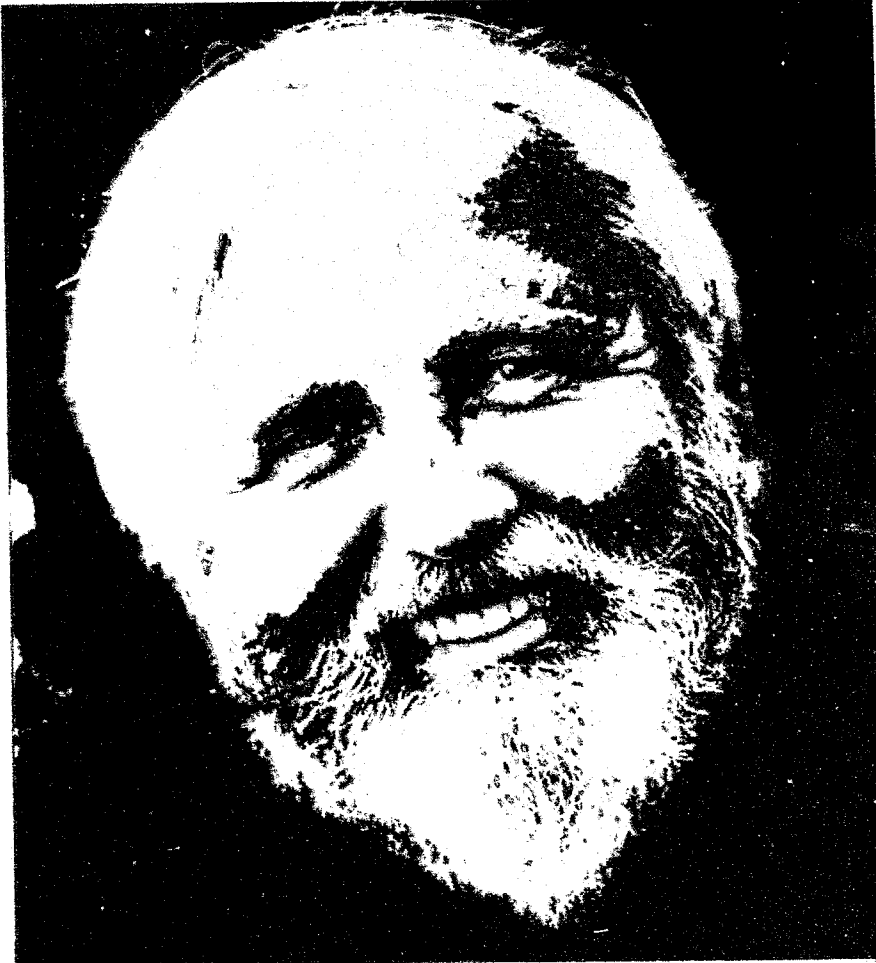

Marsalis' extraordinary personal artistry, however, is almost of less importance than the movement he has led to return jazz to its acoustical roots and promote integrity in music.

Marsalis and other young musicians who have followed his lead are reacting against the "fusion" music of the 70s in which jazz was submerged ("corrupted," they would argue) by various strains of electronically amplified pop/rock influences, and by commercialization in which showmanship and novelty replaced musical excellence or even competence.

Pure, classical jazz, in consequence, almost disappeared as a commercially viable art form, surviving mostly in "museum" venues such as New Orleans' Preservation Hall, where aging musicians had no visible successors.

The new generation represented by Marsalis has consciously returned to New Orleans roots, studying the seminal work of jazz pioneers such as Buddy Bolden, King Oliver, Jelly Roll Morton and Sidney Bechet.

Marsalis' Lewiston appearance is the second program in LA Arts' 1990-91 concert series. It is sponsored by Mid-Maine Savings Bank. For ticket information and reservations call 782-7228.

National Park Service and AMC to inventory northeast hiking trails

The National Park Service (NPS) and the Appalachian Mountain Club (AMC) together will compile the first-ever comprehensive listing of recreational trails in New England and New York.

Individuals and organizations that are involved in maintaining trails used for off-road vehicles, hiking, horseback riding, snowmobiling, cross-country skiing, bicycling, mountain bicycling and similar sports are being contacted for information on those trails.

The deadline for submitting information is Nov. 15.

This trail inventory will feature facts on mileage, categories of use, land ownership, protection status, trail condition and other relevant features. The purpose of the inventory is to assess the condition of the region's trails and focus attention on their most pressing needs.

The project will produce two separate publications—a "Trails Directory" and a "Trails Status Report."

The "Directory" will be a comprehensive guide book to recreational trails in New York and New England. The "Status Report" is intended to help organizations manage, protect and plan future recreational trails in the region. It will include a listing of the trail groups, conservation organizations and public agencies participating in the project.

The NPS will be sending questionnaires to organizations beginning Oct. 15—to be returned by Nov. 15.

The "Trail Status Report" is slated to be released March 30, 1991, and the "Directory" will be published later in the year. The tight schedule is intended to insure that current information is readily available to trail policymakers.

To insure that each trail organization is included in the inventory and benefits from inclusion in the "Status Report" and "Directory," the NPS is requesting that organizations which have not received the information by Nov. 1 submit their name, address, and name and phone number of a primary contact person to: Douglas Evans, River and Trail Conservation Assistance, National Park Service, 15 State St., Boston, Mass., 02109 and include any general information such as brochure or trail map.

The project is one of many cooperative ventures between the NPS, federal agency, and the AMC, a private, non-profit trail organization.

Community Theatre salutes Irving Berlin

In timely fashion, the Ragtag People's Theatre honors an American legend who inspired the nation for almost a century through peacetime and war.

"Irving Berlin, A Musical Tribute" celebrates Mr. Melody Maker, "who died at the age of 101 last year. Staged every weekend in November and on Dec. 1 at the Bethel Inn & Country Club, the theatre production features Berlin's most memorable music: "God Bless America," "White Christmas," "Alexander's Ragtime Band," "This is the Army, Mr. Jones," and many more.

The Ragtag People's Theatre has been performing dramas and musicals since 1982. Comprised of amateur performers, under the direction of Linda Blackman, cast members are from local businesses, professional ranks and regional high schools.

"Irving Berlin" is the 14th cooperative endeavor between Ragtag and the Bethel Inn. These after-dinner productions have become a popular tradition in the fall and spring due to the support of enthusiastic audiences from Oxford County and vacationing guests who arrive from throughout New England.

Performances are scheduled Nov. 10, 17, 23, 24 and 30 and Dec. 1, at 9 p.m. Tickets are $10, and $8 for students and seniors. Reservations can be made by calling 800-387-8884.

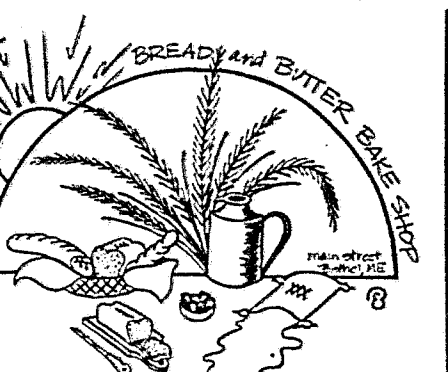

PIES FOR THE HOLIDAYS
In an effort to raise money for the West Parish Congregational Church Renovation Fund, members of the congregation have prepared numerous homemade pies, which are being offered for sale throughout the winter season.

These homemade pies are delivered frozen to homes within a 20 mile radius of Bethel. Pies are $6 and are baked upon request. Please allow 24 hour notice.

To order your eight inch blueberry, mincemeat, apple or pumpkin pie please contact Debra Michaud at 824-2894 or Leslie Cooley at 824-3525. Pies are $6 and are baked upon request. Please allow 24 hour notice.

Poet Donald Hall to read at Gould

Donald Hall, poet laureate of New Hampshire and author and editor of over fifty books of poetry and prose, may be best known in this area of New England for his 1980 Caldecott Award winning children's book, "The Ox-Cart Man" which was illustrated by Barbara Cooney.

In his latest book of prose, "Here At Eagle Pond," Hall includes an essay describing how he first heard the story of the "Ox-Cart Man" from an older cousin at his grandparents farm in New Hampshire. Hall spent two years turning that story into a poem that is included in one of his best known books of poetry "Kicking The Leaves."

After publishing the poem, Hall worked with Barbara Cooney to publish a children's book which takes young readers on a journey with an early American New England farmer as he travels to trade his goods at Portsmouth Market.

On Friday morning, November 16th, Donald Hall will be sharing his book and his art of writing with Bethel third graders who use "The Ox-Cart Man" as part of their Social Studies curriculum.

Rotary Club notes

Our guests at the Tuesday, Oct. 30, meeting were Kelly Hayes and Kris Delano, students at Telstar High School. They talked about their career week experiences working at a greenhouse and at a TV station. Both young women were well poised and gave very interesting reports.

The citrus sale has begun. Dave Preble made an announcement about this and distributed sales materials to the Rotarians. All proceeds from this sale will benefit the International Youth Exchange Program.

Tickets were distributed for the Rotary's annual breakfast, this year entitled, "A Country Breakfast." It will be held Sunday, Nov. 18, at Gould Academy dining hall. Proceeds will benefit Rotary's Scholarship program. Tickets are on sale for adults and children.

Jim Sykes announced that Rotary will again sell Christmas trees on Friday, Nov. 30, at the Unicorn Flower Shop. Dave Murphy, chairman of the Christmas for Children Campaign is actively seeking donations for this wonderful cause.

Guests included David Paine and Larry Willey from Oxford Hills. Al Barth presented the club with a Rotary banner from the Rangeley Lakes Rotary Club.

Jackson-Silver Auxiliary

Before our regular meeting on Nov. 1 members of the Post joined us for a special program. Mary Lyon, who chairs both our Americanism and Music Committees, has planned a presentation which would encompass both areas with "The American's Creed" as the theme.

The evening began with the singing of the first and last verses of "The Star Spangled Banner" by all present, then the salute to the flag. Mary then introduced the format—preassigned auxiliary members would explain the meaning of the segments they had prepared—and the audience was encouraged to participate by breaking in to agree or disagree or add to what had been said. It was Olive Risko's duty to keep the discussion on track, summarize as needed and encourage participation.

The Creed goes: "I believe in the United States of America as a government of the people, by the people and for the people, whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a republic; a sovereign nation of many sovereign states; a perfect union, one and inseparable, established upon those principles of freedom, equality, justice and humanity for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes. I therefore believe it is my duty to my country to love it, to support its constitution, to obey its laws, to respect its flag, and to defend it against all enemies. So let freedom ring."

Those members, who had obviously done their homework and offered their insights were Lillian Herrick, Brenda Mason, Vera Cross, Kathleen McAllister, Norwen Russo, Fannie Cummings and Olive Risko. Remarks from the audience were most helpful and contributed to the understanding of these words which are often taken for granted or viewed superficially. One point which was made and emphasized more than once was the importance and duty to exercise the right and privilege to vote.

Accompanied at the piano by Mary, the program continued with Cathryn Loveloy and Sylvia Dunham singing "The American's Creed" and concluded with everyone singing, "Let There be Peace on Earth." Refreshments were served.

During the meeting which followed the program, Sylvia Dunham expressed her thanks to the junior member, Brandy Russo and her friend Dina, who added so much to the success of our Girls State and Membership supper. She remarked that it was the first time she had ever been able to give a work assignment and have it so ably performed that it did not require any further direction or supervision from her.

An application for membership was received and the vote was to accept this member as soon as her husband's current membership is confirmed by the Post adjutant.

Throughout the program and meeting we were happy to have as a guest, Carolyn Brooks, of the Bethel Unit.

We will be joining the Post for their Veterans Day observance on Nov. 12. There will be a parade which we will join and we will serve coffee and doughnuts at the hall to the participants.

Besides our next meeting on Nov. 15, another date this month holds special significance. On Nov. 26 our "first couple" of Jackson-Silver Post and Unit, Alanson and Fannie Cummings, will be observing the attainment of 70 years of marriage.

To celebrate this noteworthy occasion an open house has been planned by their daughter and grandchildren to take place at the Locke Mills American Legion Hall on that date from 2-4 p.m.

From the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce

Welcome to our newest members: allied members Seltzer & Rydholm (Pep & Cole); Central Distributors (Mr. Root); and business member the Mills Farm, a Family Affair, Bryant Pond, Jean Mills, owner.

The Board of Directors will be meeting Thursday, Nov. 8. Agenda items include Budget Committee update, a report from the Long Range Planning, Membership, Legislative and Boston Ski Show Committees.

Les Otten has been invited to share information on the newly formed Environmental and Economic Council.

The Bethel Area Retailers planned to meet on Wed., Nov. 7 to discuss the promotion of their pre-Christmas open house, Friday-Sunday, Nov. 23-25, as well as other possible plans.

GIRL SCOUT NOTES

The next meeting of the Telstar Service Unit will be on Wednesday, Nov. 14, at 8:30 p.m. at the Franklin Savings Bank meeting room, Rumford.

There will be program level round table discussions. All Girl Scout leaders and assistants are welcome to attend. Troop meeting ideas, trips, or problems will be discussed.

Last month's meeting was held Oct. 17 at the Mexico Congregational Church. In attendance were Diane Milligan, service unit manager; Cindy Blake of Bethel; Kiki Kirby of Peru; Donna Trudy, Sally Theriault, Andrea Conner, all of Rumford; Linda Zadakis, Opal Varnum, Karen Cayer, Bunny Easter, all of Mexico; Kelly Scotti and Kathleen Leavy, both of Andover; and Vicky Gels and Maureen Houle, both of Dixfield.

Treasure Chest '90 will be on Nov. 17. This will be held at the Gray/New Gloucester Middle School with registration beginning at 8 a.m. The cost is $8 before Nov. 5, $8 after. Child care is provided for $2.50 per child. Extra programs are available from the Council office or Andrea Conner. Troop trip permission slips were explained. Please note that permission is needed if you are meeting away from your regular meeting place.

Donna Trudy, TOC of Rumford, explained all the Kenneboc Girl Scout Council sponsored programs. Information is available on these programs from her or from KGSC.

Andrea Conner, 369-9035, has Girl Scout wall and pocket calendars. These calendars sell for $1.50 each. If troops need more, please call her.

Louanne Thibodeau has all the QSP magazine supplies.

Kimberly Hamilton
weds Barry Bodwell
Kimberly Ann Hamilton and Barry James Bodwell were married in a double-ring service by Rev. George R. Pomeroy on Aug. 18 at noon at Gorham Congregational Church, Gorham, N.H.

The bride is the daughter of Alan C. and Frances H. Hamilton of Locke Mills. Her husband is the son of Paul K. and Sally Bodwell of Bethel.

The bride wore a gown of white satin with re-embroidered satin lace and pearls, a Queen Anne neckline, basque waist, puffed long gathered sleeve and open illusion back, an a-line skirt with semi-cathedral train, trimmed with satin lace scallops. She wore a floral cap with netted ruffle and a floral cascade in the back and carried a bouquet of white roses, pink and white stephanotis outlined with teal.

Lori Royer, friend of West Paris was matron of honor. Her gown was floor length teal taffeta with a-line skirt, dropped waistline with penguin at back. She carried a silk cascade of white roses, white stephanotis, trimmed with teal.

The bridesmaids were Dina Anderson of Pittsburgh, Penn., Joanne Fick of Camden and Roxanne Handville of South Paris, all former college classmates of the bride. They wore floor length teal taffeta with a-line skirt, dropped waistline with penguin at back and carried silk cascade bouquets of white roses, white stephanotis trimmed with teal net and ribbon.

Peter Bodwell of Bethel, brother of the groom, was best man. Gregory C. Hamilton of Dixfield, brother of the bride, Dennis Wheeler of Bethel, friend of the groom, and Roderick Royer of West Paris, friend of the groom, were ushers.

A reception was held at Town & Country Motor Inn, Gorham, N.H. Following the ceremony and reception the couple departed on a wedding trip to Bar Harbor.

The bride graduated from Gould Academy, the University of Maine, Orono and Medical College of Virginia, Richmond, Va. She is employed at Androscoggin Valley Hospital, Bethel, N.H. as an occupational therapist.

The groom graduated from Telstar Regional High School and the University of Maine at Presque Isle. He is employed at Dennis Wheeler, Inc., Bethel.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wardwell

Wardwells celebrate their 50th anniversary

Arthur and Alice Wardwell observed their 50th wedding anniversary Sunday, Oct. 7, with an open house at their home in Albany.

The celebration was arranged by their daughters, Jane Wardwell and Jean Reynolds. The beautiful anniversary cake was made and decorated by their niece Phyllis Jordan of Waterford. Refreshments were prepared and served by the Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War, Judith Grover Tent #17, Bryant Pond.

Guests attended from Albany, Stonham, the Waterfalls, Bethel, Bryant Pond, Locke Mills, Norway, West Paris, South Paris, Oxford, Rumford, Sabbathus, Solon, Gorham, Freeport, Yarmouth, Danbury, N.H. and the youngest was a two-and-a-half year-old grandnephew from New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Wardwell were married Oct. 5, 1940 by Rev. Wilbur Bull in the parsonage at Waterford. Clara Whitman of Bryant Pond was an attendant and attended the anniversary celebration.

Mr. Wardwell has worked as a logger and plowed snow and did other road work in Albany and Bryant Pond; hunting is a favorite pastime in the fall. Mrs. Wardwell worked as a homemaker and seamstress for her family, was a former Girl Scout leader, is active in the D.U.V. at Bryant Pond and the Ladies Benevolent Society in Albany. Both are members and are active in the Albany Congregational Church.

They have two daughters and three grandchildren. Mr. and Mrs. Wardwell reside at Mr. Wardwell's homeplace in Albany, (where he was born), built by a brother of his great-grandfather Sheed in 1810 or 1811. Mrs. Wardwell grew up in Bryant Pond, but was born in Albany at the former Fullerton Place (now home of the Mike Innans) about a half mile below the Wardwell farm.

Thoughts from the Pastor's Study

The Bethel Area Clergy Association, with the help of pastors of surrounding churches, brings you these meditations. Not based on any set themes, they will be individual for each pastor. It is hoped you will find in these words, comfort and help for your daily life.

"It's crazy out there," said a friend just home from several days in the land of eight-lane highways and suburban schedules. Many of us, coming back to these comfortable hills after a time of jazzed-up city living would share that perplexity at how "the rest of the world" lives, and settle into our protected life with relief. No sirens, traffic jams and muggings for us, thanks. If that's the real world, we'll just stay here where life is quiet and safe.

Soon, however, we'll realize that living in our chosen paradise doesn't mean we're free from threats. Here, too, tempers explode and people are injured. The ambulance at midnight is as likely to carry a friend as a stranger. World conflicts refuse to stay within the limits of the television, but reach into our homes and claim our sons and daughters. Each of us, said John Donne, is a "piece of the continent." He echoed Paul, who affirmed that we are all one. What is "out there" is also here. Equally important, what is here can touch the world. We are never released from the work of caring, both for our immediate neighbors and for those we never meet.

Whatever seeds of peace, whatever truths about living together we have gained from our life are not ours to hoard. It is our responsibility to care about the life of the entire world, to pray for that world, and to do all we can, from the place we are, to move that world to sanity.

another defensive standoff, the Rebels edged top-seeded Yarmouth for the Western Maine Championship.

Despite this draining schedule, the Rebels showed up Saturday ready to play. "They were up for it," said co-coach Sally Hannon, pointing out that the Rebels not only outshot the Red Riots, but also had an 8-7 advantage in penalty corners.

The Rebels and their season with the Western Maine Class C and Mountain Valley Conference titles and with a 14-2-2 record, one game better than last season's.

Hannon predicted that they'll be a strong contender again next season. "We'll lose a few players, but we have a good group returning and we'll be back," she promised.

Gone next season will be starters, Jenn Gould, Delano, Nancy Carter and Lynn Buckingham, and subs Becky Hunt and Amy Laban.

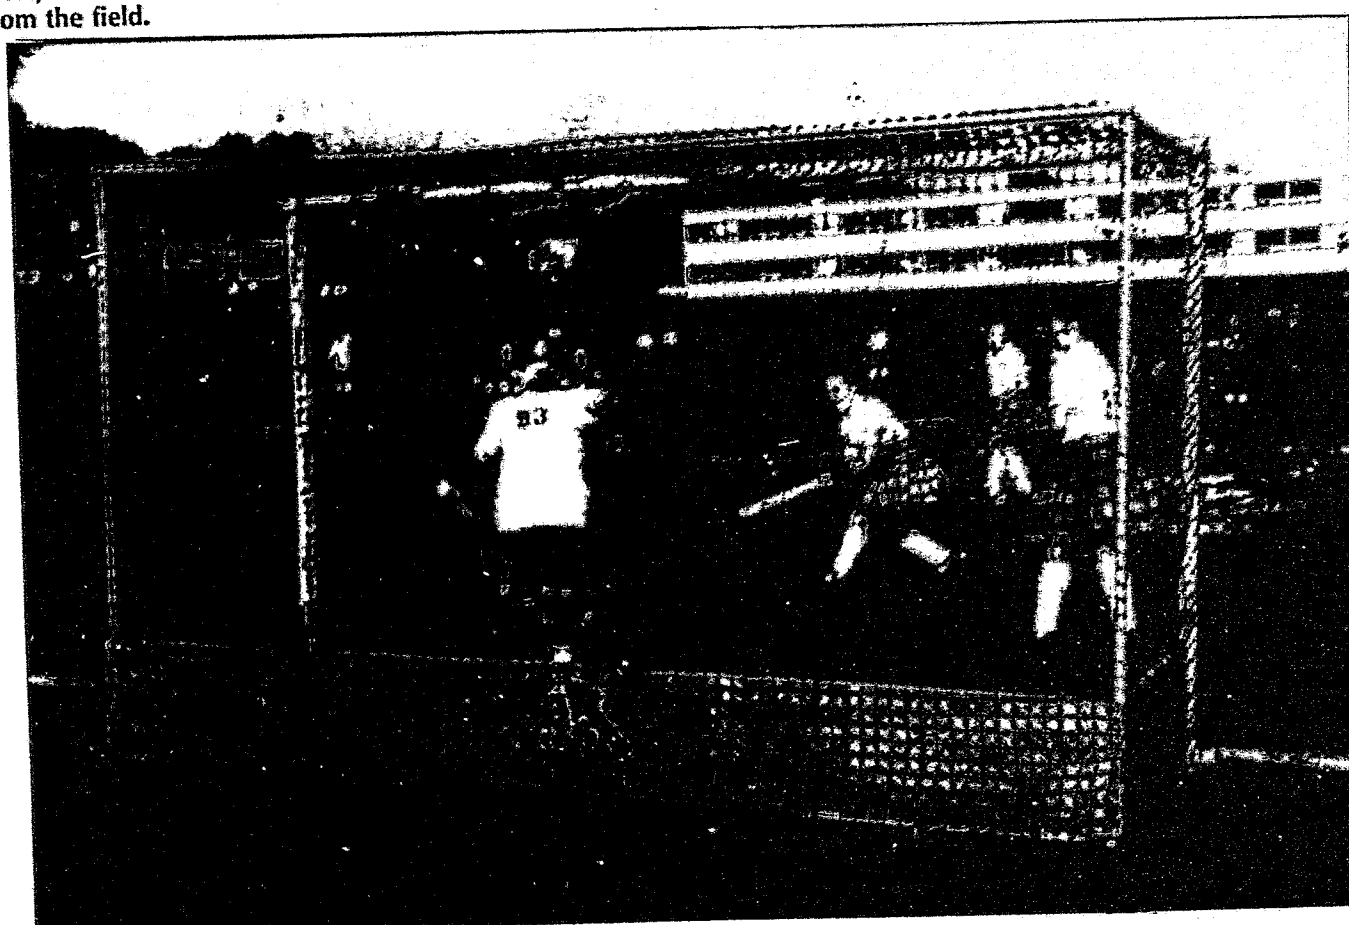

The top scorers for the Rebels this season were Delano (16 goals, 2 assists), Amy Hannon (12-7) Shilo Hutchins (6 goals), and Jenn Gould (6 goals). Adding to the Rebel totals were Crystal Chase (3 goals), Lynn Buckingham (2-4), Amy Laban (2-1) and Jen Bailey (2 assists).

At the other end of the field, veterans Bailey, Gould and Bink Gauthier anchored the defense, while newcomers Nancy Carter, Robin Michaud and Suzanne Richardson came along strongly. And Bernier once again proved a standout stopper in the goal.

When the weary Western Maine/MVC champs returned home Saturday, they were greeted by scores of fans and treated to roses, munchies and hard-earned congratulations.

GO FOR IT! Scores of fans made the trip to Gardiner to cheer the Rebels on in the state championship game.

THE ONE THAT GOT AWAY—This Orono blast the rebound is just visible behind goalie Danielle Bernier's right leg was too fast to be stopped, and it crushed the Rebels hopes for a state championship... this season.

Jon Owen takes silver in Calgary

Jon Owen of Bethel captured a silver medal in last week's North American Luge Championships, in Calgary, Canada.

The United States team took home two gold, a silver and a bronze medal. The race marked the start of the 1990/91 luge season.

Owen won his silver medal in the men's competition with a time of 1:35.185. The entire men's contingent did well, with Mark Grimmette finishing fourth in a time of 1:37.321 and Chris Thorpe finishing fifth at 1:37.582. Chris Cabral of Concord, Calif. and Brendy Reeves of Mt. Baldy, Calif. finished 12th and 13th respectively with times of 1:40.730 and 1:41.226.

Bonny Warner, five-time U.S. National Champion and two-time Olympian, of Mt. Baldy, Calif. was the top female finisher with a time of 1:38.426. Cynthia Wright of Whitefield, N.H., had a strong showing with a time of 1:34.710 to take the bronze.

In the doubles competition, a gold medal was won by the team of Chris Thorpe of Marquette, Mich. and Gordy Sheer of Croton, N.Y. which placed first with a time of 1:32.018. They were closely followed by the other U.S. team of Mark Grimmette of Muskegon, Mich. and Jon Edwards of South Weymouth, Mass., who finished fourth with a time of 1:34.940.

Wynton Marsalis to play in Lewiston

The artist primarily responsible for the current jazz renaissance will appear in Lewiston Saturday under the auspices of LA Arts.

Trumpeter Wynton Marsalis, featured recently on the cover of Time magazine, will perform with his eighth man band in a "tribute to the blues" at 8 p.m. in the Lewiston Junior High School.

Marsalis, 29, is the best-known member of a remarkable family of artists whose members include his father, the respected jazz pianist and composer Ellis Marsalis, and brothers Branford, a saxophonist, Delfeayo, a trombonist, and Jason, a drummer.

Ellis Marsalis, through his work at the New Orleans Center for Creative Arts, helped revive his native city as a musical center and trained a generation of gifted musicians including his own sons.

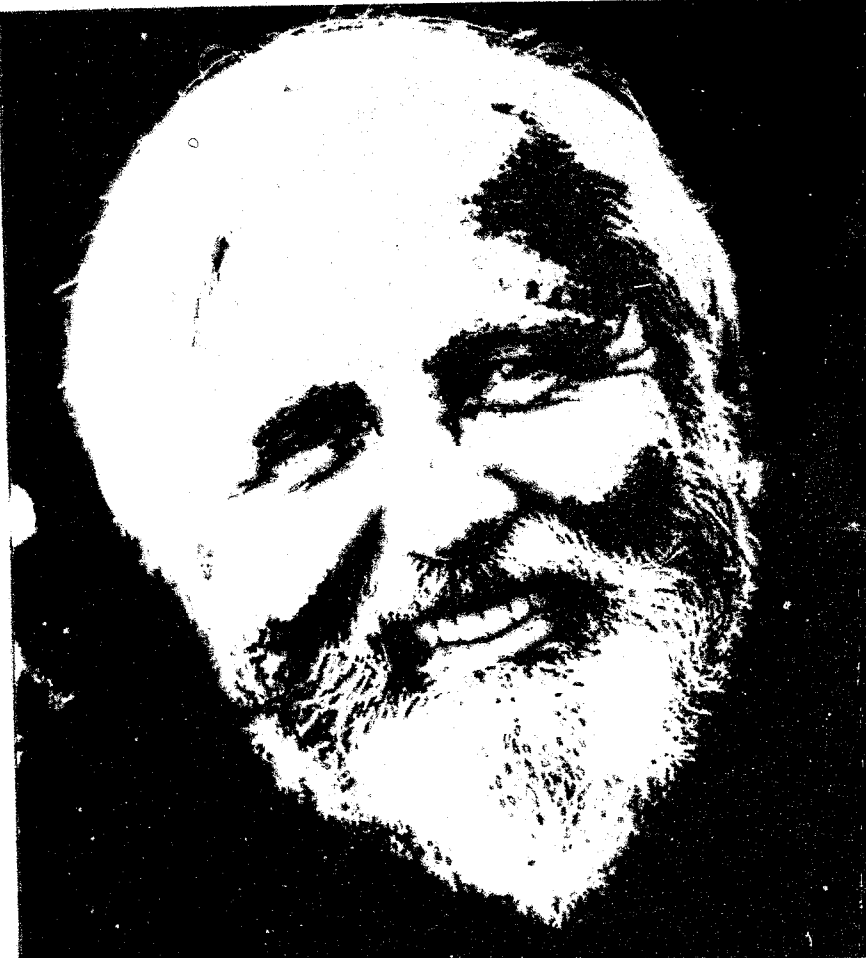

At an age where most musicians are barely starting to make a name, Wynton Marsalis is already being compared with legendary giants such as Coltrane, Parker, Ellington and Armstrong. His extraordinary personal artistry, however, is almost of less importance than the movement he has led to return jazz to its acoustical roots and promote integrity in music.

Marsalis and other young musicians who have followed his lead are reacting against the "fusion" music of the '70s in which jazz was submerged ("corrupted," they would argue) by amplified pop/rock influences, and by commercialization in which showmanship and novelty replaced musical excellence or even competence.

Pure, classical jazz, in consequence, almost disappeared as a commercially viable art form, surviving mostly in museum venues such as New Orleans' Preservation Hall, where aging musicians had no visible successors.

The new generation represented by Marsalis has consciously returned to New Orleans roots, studying the seminal work of jazz pioneers such as Buddy Bolden, King Oliver, Jelly Roll Morton and Sidney Bechet.

Marsalis' Lewiston appearance is the second program in LA Arts' 1990-91 concert series. It is sponsored by Mid-Maine Savings Bank. For ticket information and reservations call 782-7228.

Glenn Yarbrough

Glenn Yarbrough Concert

Rumford Community Concert Association will present to its members Glenn Yarbrough and the New Christy Minstrels on Nov. 14. The concert will be held at the Muskie Auditorium at 7:30 p.m. Anyone interested in becoming a member, please contact Shirley Fifield, or memberships may be obtained the night of the concert.

Rumford Point Church—upcoming events

The Rumford Point Congregational Church has several special services and events planned for the pre-holiday and holiday season.

On Sunday, Nov. 11, Dorothy Kearney, president of the United Church Board of World Ministry, will be the guest minister at the 10:30 a.m. worship service. Her special interest and knowledge is of South Africa.

Sunday, Nov. 18, a Pilgrimage Thanksgiving service will be held at both Locke Mills, 9 a.m., and Rumford Point, 10:30 a.m.

CROSS COUNTRY QUILTERS Bethel's local quilting club, Cross Country Quilters, will hold a planning meeting at the Bethel Library on Tuesday morning, Nov. 13, at 9 a.m.

It is hoped that many of the local group will attend this first meeting to help activate the present membership. Leaders will be elected, regular meetings scheduled and quilting projects planned.

If you like to quilt or want to learn, member or non-member, please attend this first meeting and offer suggestions and voice your interests. For further information you may call 824-2661.

On Sunday, Dec. 2, a 5 p.m. both Rumford Point and Locke Mills will gather at Locke Mills for the monthly fun night. A potluck supper will be served followed by the making of advent wreaths.

Christmas Eve a candle light service of carols and communion will be held at Rumford Point at 7 p.m.

BETHEL SENIOR CITIZENS The Bethel Senior Citizens will meet at Goldstreet Restaurant, South Paris, Wednesday, Nov. 14, at 11 a.m. Entertainment will be provided by Hathaway's Band.

National Park Service and AMC to inventory northeast hiking trails

The National Park Service (NPS) and the Appalachian Mountain Club (AMC) together will compile the first-ever comprehensive listing of recreational trails in New England and New York.

Individuals and organizations that are involved in maintaining trails used for off-road vehicles, hiking, horseback riding, snowmobiling, cross-country skiing, bicycling, mountain bicycling and similar sports are being contacted for information on those trails.

The deadline for submitting information is Nov. 15.

This trail inventory will feature facts on mileage, categories of use, land ownership, protection status, trail condition and other relevant features. The purpose of the inventory is to assess the condition of the region's trails and focus attention on their most pressing needs.

The project will produce two separate publications—a "Trails Directory" and a "Trails Status Report."

The "Directory" will be a comprehensive guide book to recreational trails in New York and New England. The "Status Report" is intended to help organizations manage, protect and plan future recreational trails in the region. It will include a listing of the trail groups, conservation organizations and public agencies participating in the project.

The NPS will be sending questionnaires to organizations beginning Oct. 15—to be returned by Nov. 15.

The "Trail Status Report" is slated to be released March 30, 1991, and the "Directory" will be published later in the year. The tight schedule is intended to insure that current information is readily available to trail policymakers.

To insure that each trail organization is included in the inventory and benefits from inclusion in the "Status Report" and "Directory," the NPS is requesting that organizations which have not received the information by Nov. 1 submit their name, address, and name and phone number of a primary contact person to: Douglas Evans, River and Trail Conservation Assistance, National Park Service, 15 State St., Boston, Mass., 02109 and include any general information such as brochure or trail map.

The project is one of many cooperative ventures between the NPS, federal agency, and the AMC, a private, non-profit trail organization.

Community Theatre salutes Irving Berlin

In timely fashion, the Ragtag People's Theatre honors an American legend who inspired the nation for almost a century through peacetime and war.

"Irving Berlin, A Musical Tribute" celebrates "Mr. Melody Maker" who died at the age of 101 last year. Staged every weekend in November and on Dec. 1 at the Bethel Inn & Country Club, the theatre production features Berlin's most memorable music: "God Bless America," "White Christmas," "Alexander's Ragtime Band," "This is the Army, Mr. Jones," and many more.

The Ragtag People's Theatre has been performing dramas and musicals since 1982. Comprised of amateur performers, under the direction of Linda Blackman, cast members are from local businesses, professional ranks and regional high schools.

"Irving Berlin" is the 14th cooperative endeavor between Ragtag and the Bethel Inn. These after-dinner productions have become a popular tradition in the fall and spring due to the support of enthusiastic audiences from Oxford County and vacationing guests who arrive from throughout New England.

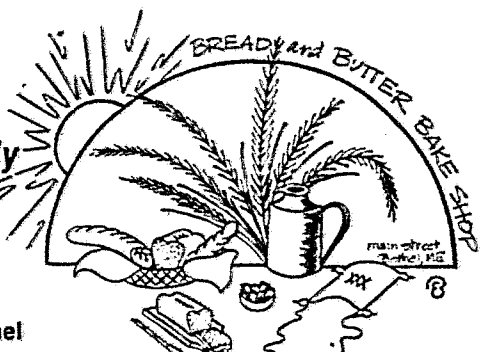

Performances are scheduled Nov. 10, 17, 24, 30 and Dec. 1, at 9 p.m. Tickets are $10, and $8 for students and seniors. Reservations can be made by calling 800-367-8884.

PIES FOR THE HOLIDAYS In an effort to raise money for the West Parish Congregational Church Renovation Fund, members of the congregation have prepared numerous homemade pies, which are being offered for sale throughout the winter season.

These homemade pies are delivered frozen to homes within a 20 mile radius of Bethel.

To order your eight inch blueberry, minicement, apple or pumpkin pie please contact Debra Michaud at 824-2384 or Leslie Cooley at 824-3326. Pies are $8 and are baked upon request. Please allow 24 hour notice.

Thanksgiving is just around the corner. Place your orders early Sat., Mon thru Thurs. 8:30 am - 3 pm Friday 6:30 am - 6 pm Special Orders Welcome 824-3519 Located on Main Street, Bethel

Poet Donald Hall to read at Gould

Donald Hall, poet laureate of New Hampshire and author and editor of over fifty books of poetry and prose, may be best known in this area of New England for his 1980 Caldecott Award winning children's book, "The Ox-Cart Man" which was illustrated by Barbara Cooney.

In his latest book of prose, "Here At Eagle Pond," Hall includes an essay describing how he first heard the story of the "Ox-Cart Man" from an older cousin at his grandparents' farm in New Hampshire. Hall spent two years turning that story into a poem that is included in one of his best known books of poetry "Kicking The Leaves."

After publishing the poem, Hall worked with Barbara Cooney to publish a children's book which takes young readers on a journey with an early American New England farmer as he travels to trade his goods at Portsmouth Market.

On Friday morning, November 16th, Donald Hall will be sharing his book and his art of writing with Bethel third graders who use "The Ox-Cart Man" as part of their Social Studies curriculum.

This is an example of how Gould

Academy and the Mahosue Arts Council have worked together to coordinate efforts in order to bring quality programs in the arts and humanities to the Bethel area schools and communities.

Thursday afternoon, November 15th, Hall will be sharing with a small group of Gould Academy students. In the evening he will give a poetry reading in the Bingham Auditorium at 7:30 p.m. This reading is open to the public and tickets will be sold at the door. Hall's workshops with the Bethel third grade students are being coordinated and funded through the Mahosue Arts Council's Program in the School's.

The next Mahosue Arts community performance will take place on Saturday, November 17th when Gordon Bok will perform in the Bingham Auditorium at 7:30 p.m. Tickets will be on sale at Prime's Pharmacy in Bethel or they may be reserved by calling the Mahosue Arts Office at 824-3575.

Jackson-Silver Post #68

Members of the Jackson-Silver Post #68, American Legion, met for two informal, brief meetings on Oct. 25 following the Boy-Girls State supper, the second at the regular bi-monthly meeting Nov. 1.

At the first meeting it was voted to conduct a raffle to help on the expense of the recent paving of the parking lot. Also at the same meeting it was voted to install a safety valve on the electric water heater in compliance with ordinance regulations. At the same meeting two rentals for benefit Benne was authorized. One to Jefferson Lodge of Bethel and the other to Steve Binette.

At the regular monthly meeting on Nov. 1 it was voted to sell the dishwasher in the kitchen and install a shelf for a microwave oven recently purchased.

Final plans were made for the annual Veterans Day parade. The parade will be formed at the Legion Hall at 9:30 a.m. Those participating will include the Telstar Band, Color Guard and Firing Squad. Members of the Post as well as friends and neighbors are invited to share in this very meaningful occasion.

In case of bad weather the observances will be held inside the hall.

Jackson-Silver Auxiliary

Before our regular meeting on Nov. 1 members of the Post joined us for a special program. Mary Lyon, who chairs both our Americanism and Music Committees, has planned a presentation which would encompass both areas with "The American Creed" as the theme.

The evening began with the singing of the first and last verses of "The Star Spangled Banner" by all present, then the salute to the flag.

Mary then introduced the format—preassigned auxiliary members would explain the meaning of the segments they had prepared—and the audience was encouraged to participate by breaking in to agree or disagree or add to what had been said. It was Olive Risko's duty to keep the discussion on track, summarize as needed and encourage participation.

The Creed goes: "I believe in the United States of America as a government of the people, by the people and for the people, whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a republic; a sovereign nation of many sovereign states; a perfect union, one and inseparable, established upon those principles of freedom, equality, justice and humanity for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes. I therefore believe it is my duty to my country to love it, to support its constitution, to obey its laws, to respect its flag, and to defend it against all enemies. So let freedom ring."

Those members, who had obviously done their homework and offered their insights were Lillian Herrick, Brenda Mason, Vera Cross, Kathleen McAllister, Noreen Russo, Fannie Cummings and Olive Risko. Remarks from the audience were most helpful and contributed to the understanding of these words which are often taken for granted or viewed superficially. One point which was made and emphasized more than once was the importance and duty to exercise the right and privilege to vote.

Accompanied at the piano by Mary, the program continued with Cathryn Lovejoy and Sylvia Dunham singing "The American Creed," and concluded with everyone singing, "Let There Be Peace on Earth." Refreshments were served.

During the meeting which followed the program, Sylvia Dunham expressed her thanks to the Junior member, Brandy Russo and her friend Dina, who added so much to the success of our Girls State and Membership supper. She remarked that it was the first time she had ever been able to give a work assignment and have it so ably performed that it did not require any further direction or supervision from her.

An application for membership was received and the vote was to accept this member as soon as her husband's current membership is confirmed by the Post adjutant.

Throughout the program and meeting we were happy to have as a guest, Carolyn Brooks, of the Bethel Unit.

We will be joining the Post for their Veterans Day observance on Nov. 12. There will be a parade which we will join and we will serve coffee and doughnuts at the hall to the participants.

Besides our next meeting on Nov. 15, another date this month holds special significance. On Nov. 26 our "first couple" of Jackson-Silver Post and Unit, Alanson and Fannie Cummings, will be observing the attainment of 70 years of marriage. To celebrate this noteworthy occasion an open house has been planned by their daughter and grandchildren to take place at the Locke Mills American Legion Hall on that date from 2-4 p.m.

From the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce

Welcome to our newest members: allied members Seltzer & Rydholm (Pep's Cola); Central Distributors and H.P. Hood; and business member the Mills Farm, a Family Affair, Bryant Pond, Jean Mills, owner.

The Board of Directors will be meeting Thursday, Nov. 8. Agenda items include Budget Committee update, a report from the Long Range Planning, Membership, Legislative and Boston Ski Show Committees.

Les Otten has been invited to share information on the newly formed Environmental and Economic Council. The Bethel Area Retailers planned to meet on Wed., Nov. 7 to discuss the promotion of their pre-Christmas open house, Friday-Sunday, Nov. 22-25, as well as other possible plans.

HEADLESS HORSEMAN—Language Arts Coordinator Charlie Plummer entertains children in Meg Cousin's second-grade class with his rendition of the Headless Horseman.

GIRL SCOUT NOTES

The next meeting of the Telstar Service Unit will be on Wednesday, Nov. 14, at 6:30 p.m. at the Franklin Savings Bank meeting room, Rumford.

There will be program level round table discussions. All Girl Scout leaders and assistants are welcome to attend. Troop meeting ideas, trips, or problems will be discussed.

Last month's meeting was held Oct. 17 at the Mexico Congregational Church. In attendance were Diane Milligan, service unit manager; Cindy Blake of Bethel; Kiki Kirby of Peru; Donna Trudy, Sally Theriault, Andrea Conner, all of Rumford; Linda Zadakis, Opal Varnum, Karen Cayer, Bunny Eastar, all of Mexico; Kelly Scott and Kathleen Leavy, both of Andover; and Vicky Geis and Maureen Houle, both of Dixfield.

Treasure Chest '90 will be on Nov. 17. This will be held at the Gray/New Gloucester Middle School with registration beginning at 8 a.m. The cost is $5 before Nov. 5, $8 after. Child care is provided for $2.50 per child. Extra programs are available from the Council office or Andrea Conner. Troop trip permission slips were explained. Please note that permission is needed if you are meeting away from your regular meeting place.

Donna Trudy, TOC of Rumford, explained all the Kennebec Girl Scout Council sponsored programs. Information is available on these programs from her or from KSCS.

Andrea Conner, 369-9035, has Girl Scout wall and pocket calendars. These calendars sell for $1.50 each. If troops need more, please call her. Louanne Thibodeau has all the Q&P magazine supplies.

Rotary Club notes

Our guests at the Tuesday, Oct. 30, meeting were Kelly Hayes and Kris Delano, students at Telstar High School. They talked about their career week experiences working at a greenhouse and at a TV station. Both young women were well poised and gave very interesting reports.

The citrus sale has begun. Dave Preble made an announcement about this and distributed sales materials to the Rotarians. All proceeds from this sale will benefit the International Youth Exchange Program.

Tickets were distributed for the Rotary's annual breakfast, this year entitled, "A Country Breakfast." It will be held Sunday, Nov. 18, at Gould Academy dining hall. Proceeds will benefit Rotary's Scholarship program. Tickets are on sale for adults and children.

Jim Sytko announced that Rotary will again sell Christmas trees on Friday, Nov. 30, at the Unicorn Flower Shop.

Dave Murphy, chairman of the Christmas for Children Campaign is actively seeking donations for this wonderful cause.

Guests included David Paine and Larry Wilday from Oxford Hills. Al Barth presented the club with a Rotary banner from the Rangely Lakes Rotary Club.

Kimberly Hamilton
weds Barry Bodwell
Kimberly Ann Hamilton and Barry James Bodwell were married in a double-ring service by Rev. George R. Pomeroy on Aug. 18 at noon at Gorham Congregational Church, Gorham, N.H.

The bride is the daughter of Alan C. and Frances H. Hamilton of Locke Mills. Her husband is the son of Paul K. and Sally Bodwell of Bethel.

The bride wore a gown of white satin with re-embroidered satin lace and pearls, a Queen Anne necklace, beaded waist, puffed long gathered sleeve and open illusion back, an e-line skirt with semi-cathedral train, trimmed with satin lace scallops. She wore a floral cap with netted ruffle and a floral cascade in the back and carried a bouquet of white roses, pink and white stephanotis outlined with teal.

Lori Royer, friend of West Paris was matron of honor. Her gown was floor length teal taffeta with a-line skirt, dropped waistline with peplum at back. She carried a silk cascade of white roses, white stephanotis, trimmed with teal.

The bridesmaids were Dina Anderson of Pittsburgh, Penn.; Joanne Fisk of Camden and Roxanne Handville of South Paris, all former college classmates of the bride. They wore floor length teal taffeta with a-line skirt, dropped waistline with peplum at the back and carried silk cascade bouquets of white roses, white stephanotis trimmed with teal net and ribbon.

Peter Bodwell of Bethel, brother of the groom, was best man. Gregory C. Hamilton of Dixfield, brother of the bride, Dennis Wheeler of Bethel, friend of the groom, and Roderick Royer of West Paris, friend of the groom, were ushers.

A reception was held at Town & Country Motor Inn, Gorham, N.H. Following the ceremony and reception the couple departed on a wedding trip to Bar Harbor.

The bride graduated from Gould Academy, the University of Maine, Orono and Medical College of Virginia, Richmond, Va. She is employed at Androscoggin Valley Hospital, Berlin, N.H. as an occupational therapist.

The groom graduated from Federal Regional High School and the University of Maine at Presque Isle. He is employed at Dennis Wheeler, Inc., Bethel.

Obituaries

LAURENCE E. BARTLETT

Laurence E. Bartlett, 78, of Bethel died Tuesday, Oct. 30, 1990 at his residence on Route 5, Songo Pond Road.
Mr. Bartlett was born in Bethel Feb. 12, 1912, son of Edwin and Gertie Sloane Bartlett. He attended Bethel area schools and graduated from Gould Academy in 1931. He was a woodsman for many years and also served in the U.S. Army. He lived in Bethel most of his life.

Survivors include one sister, Phyllis Bowley of Bridgton, two nieces and one nephew.

At the request of the family no services were held. Interment was in Woodland Cemetery, Bethel, arrangements under the direction of Greenleaf Funeral Home.

REV. MCNUTT TO SPEAK
Rev. Tal McNutt will be speaking at the Pleasant Valley Bible Church in West Bethel on Sunday, Nov. 11, at 10 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. He will also be ministering the Word of God on Nov. 12-14, 6:30 p.m. nightly. McNutt will be teaching a Bible Prophecy Seminar during these services.

These are some of his message titles:
— Sunday: "Signs of the Times," "The Sovereignty of God in a Crisis World," "The Blessed Hope."
— Monday: "Satanic Strategy for Spiritual Surrender."
— Tuesday: "A Panoramic View of God in History."

Wednesday: "Scriptural Strategy for Spiritual Survival."
A dynamic and stimulating speaker, Rev. McNutt brings Biblical principles and spiritual truths down to a practical level. "Christianity," he explains, "is a seven-days-a-week affair: in the home, the school, and on the job. It is a total experience with Jesus Christ. It is life itself in every given area."

Rev. McNutt is a graduate of Gordon College and Gordon-Conwell Theological Seminary.

He resides in Danvers, Mass. with his wife, Evelyn, also a graduate of Gordon College.

CARDS OF THANKS
I wish to thank everyone for their lovely cards, flowers and visits during my hospital stay and since my return home. Your well wishes have made my days brighter. Special thanks to Rev. Norman Rust and my church family for their visits, prayers, and words of encouragement. And, also a special thanks to all my family for their help and support. God Bless each and everyone of you.
Christine Kimball

CARD OF THANKS
The family of Cynthia Mason wishes to thank everyone who tried to help us through our recent loss. She was a great Mom and friend to everyone.
A Sincere Thanks

CARDS OF THANKS
I wish to thank my relatives and friends for the good deeds and kindness shown me in the past and continue to do so. I have a lot to be thankful for this Thanksgiving.
Muriel Cole

CARD OF THANKS
On behalf of the Bethel Outing Club, I would like to express appreciation to the many volunteers who contributed to the success of the 10th Annual Ski Sale. Although gross sales were down slightly, due to economic conditions, the net proceeds are expected to be over $5,000, certainly a success by any measure. All profits will be turned back into the community over the next year for youth development ski programs, activities and outings. Thank you all for a job well done.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wardwell

Wardwells celebrate their 50th anniversary

Arthur and Alice Wardwell observed their 50th wedding anniversary, Sunday, Oct. 7, with an open house at their home in Albany.

The celebration was arranged by their daughters, Jane Wardwell and Jean Reynolds. The beautiful anniversary cake was made and decorated by their niece Phyllis Jordan of Waterford. Refreshments were prepared and served by the Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War, Judith Grover Tent #17, Bryant Pond.

Guests attended from Albany, Stoneham, the Waterfalls, Bethel, Bryant Pond, Locke Mills, Norway, West Paris, South Paris, Oxford, Rumford, Sabattus, Solon, Gorham, Freeport, Yarmouth, Danbury, N.H. and the youngest was a two-and-a-half year-old grandnephew from New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Wardwell were married Oct. 5, 1940, by Rev. Wilbur Bull in the parsonage at Waterford. Clara Whitman of Bryant Pond was an attendant and attended the anniversary celebration.

Mr. Wardwell has worked as a logger and plowed snow and did odd work in Albany and Bryant Pond; hunting is a favorite pastime in the fall. Mrs. Wardwell worked as a homemaker and seamstress for her family, was a former Girl Scout leader, is active in the D.U.V. at Bryant Pond and the Ladies Benevolent Society in Albany. Both are members and are active in the Albany Congregational Church.

They have two daughters and three grandchildren.
Mr. and Mrs. Wardwell reside at Mr. Wardwell's homeplace in Albany, (where he was born), built by a brother of his great-grandfather Shedd in 1810 or 1811. Mrs. Wardwell grew up in Bryant Pond, but was born in Albany at the former Fullerton Place (now home of the Mike Innans) about a half mile below the Wardwell farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Wardwell were married Oct. 5, 1940, by Rev. Wilbur Bull in the parsonage at Waterford. Clara Whitman of Bryant Pond was an attendant and attended the anniversary celebration.

The Bethel Area Clergy Association, with the help of pastors of surrounding churches, brings you these meditations. Not based on any set theme, they will be individual for each pastor. It is hoped you will find in these words, comfort and help for your daily life.

"It's crazy out there," said a friend just home from several days in the land of eight-lane highways and suburban schedules. Many of us, coming back to these comfortable hills after a time of jacked-up city living would share that perplexity at how "the rest of the world" lives, and settle into our protected life with relief. No sirens, traffic jams and muggings for us, thanks. If that's the real world, we'll just stay here where life is quiet and safe.

Soon, however, we'll realize that living in our chosen paradise doesn't mean we're free from threats. Here, too, tempers explode and people are injured. The ambulance at midnight is as likely to carry a friend as a stranger. World conflicts refuse to stay within the limits of the television, but reach into our homes and claim our sons and daughters. Each of us, said John Donne, is a "piece of the continent." He echoed Paul, who affirmed that we are all one. What is "out there" is also here. Equally important, what is here can touch the world. We are never released from the work of caring, both for our immediate neighbors and for those we've never met.

Whatever seeds of peace, whatever truths about living together we have gained from our life are ours to hoard. It is our responsibility to care about the life of the entire world, to pray for that world, and to do all we can, from the place we are, to move that world to sanity.
